Public Favors Legal 'Shots,' Nichols Says

Crime Commission's Attorney Arrives In New Cumberland

The general counsel for the West Virginia Crime Commission, probing whisky and gambling law violations in the Northern Panhandle, thinks public opinion favors legalizing sale of liquor by the drink.

Atty. F. Dean Nichols of Charles Town, at a press conference this morning in New Cumberland, also said he thinks that more teeth should be put in the state gambling law to make possession of slot machines a felony.

Nichols and W. W. Murphy, a former state police captain who is one of two investigators of the crime commission, talked with Hancock County officials and citizens today to attempt to get a clear picture of overall gambling operations and whisky sales in the Northern Panhandle.

Nichols, who explained that resolutions for whisky sales are brought before the State Legislature "in a routine fashion," said he feels that there will be no added pressure for a passage of the proposal as a result of the investigations he is conducting.

Nichols also offered the opinion as general counsel for the commission that whisky sales and gambling violations in the Northern Panhandle, including Hancock County, are more predominant than anywhere else in West Virginia.

"It would appear," Nichols said, "that the state statute on gambling should be overhauled, as it has been on the books for many years."

He explained that there is no question that slot machines are located in private clubs in Hancock County and added that during his investigation he has uncovered two types of illegal operations —illegal sale of whiskey and gambling.

"It is common knowledge that these conditions do exist," the counsel said.

The Crime Commission, an arm of the legislature, is conducting a study to determine "whether crime exists in the state."

He mentioned a "very notorious club on Route 30," where the illegal gambling and whiskey sales reportedly are wide open. He later said he was speaking of the Paddock Lounge and Jockey Club on Route 30 behind Chester.

Stronger Anti-Polio Vaccine Seen Ready

NEW YORK (AP) — A drug company says a new antipolio vaccine, more powerful than the Salk shots, is ready for use.

Merck Sharp & Dohmé announced Tuesday that 120,000 doses of the killed-virus type of drug have been released by the U. S. Public Health Service.

High-risk areas of the South and Southwest will be given priority on orders, said the company.

Showers May Relieve District's Hot Weather

Scattered showers may arrive today to help relieve sweltering weather which sent the mercury to a high of 91 degrees at 6 p. m. Tuesday at Dam 8, near Newell.

By tonight, there will be general showers over most of the state, high today will be 77-82 and the low tonight will be 55-60. Thursday will be fair and cooler, he said.

Belgians Take Airport From Congo Troops

Parachutists Clear Leopoldville Field In Gunfire Exchange

LEOPOLDVILLE, Congo (AP) —Belgian parachutists cleared Leopoldville airport of Congolese soldiers in less than an hour today in a brisk exchange of gunfire and hand grenades. One Congolese soldier was killed and one wounded. Three Belgian civilians were wounded.

Gen. Geysens, commanding the Belgian forces in Leopoldville, his face white with anger, said he was taking over the airport.

Troops of the Force Publique—Congolese army—perhaps 200 of them, had moved into the airport earlier. They did not interfere with the movements of refugees. But when a Belgian military plane landed with two wounded soldiers they refused to let Belgians take charge of them. Instead they put them under guard in the airport dispensary.

Congolese were guarding some 200 white refugees. As rifle shots sounded, women and children ran screaming to the corners of a lounge room. A baggage clerk thoughtfully placed a line of suitcases around a group.

Belgian parachutists burst through the front doors and three Congolese soldiers headed for the staircase. They fired their rifles wildly.

The parachutists cornered several Congolese soldiers on the roof and there was an exchange of gunfire in which one Congolese soldier was killed.

There were frequent bursts of gun fire.

Congolese soldiers scattered in all directions.

Paratroopers rounded up about 50 members of the Force Pub-

Funds But No Troops, U.S. Says To Congo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is reported willing to provide technicians and financial support—but no troops — for any United Nations force sent to put down the mutiny in the African Congo.

Top officials outlined the administration's attitude in the wake of a White House declaration that countries other than the United States should provide the forces The Congo government has requested to restore order.

President Eisenhower, at his vacation headquarters in Newport, R.I. late Tuesday turned down The Congo's appeal for 3,000 American troops. Eisenhower said via a White House spokesman that "it would be better for the Congo" if no troops were sent from "any of the large Western nations" on such an emergency mission.

Authoritative officials sought to make clear today hat the United States did not propose to stand aloof entirely from any U.N. action which might be decided upon.

American planes and ships might be used to rush a U.N. force to the trouble spots, authorities said. Furthermore, civilian technicians as well as funds could be allocated to meet other requirements, they added.

Soviet propaganda. It was felt, would be swift to denounce any American troop units as blatant interference in the efforts of a newly independent nation to throw off the colonialist yoke.

Opponents Clinging To Faint Hope

Solid Commitments Put Massachusetts Senator But 18 Shy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Democrats name their presidential candidate today with Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts riding a crest his backers believe will give him a first-ballot victory.

A restive, noisy, and generally disorderly convention which exploded with an ovation for Adlai E. Stevenson left the Massachusetts senator's major opponents clinging to the cliffs of hope that Kennedy's tidal wave will recede quickly if it doesn't engulf them at the start.

But they had only a precarious handhold. This was demonstrated by the fact that Kennedy had what was regarded as solid commitments of delegate votes less than 30 short of the 761 needed for the nomination. Nobody ever came that close in the past and then lost out.

This, moreover, was a convention thirsty for the wine of November victory. As such it roared its approval Tuesday night of a platform into which had been nailed the toughest civil rights plank the party ever adopted.

Southerners interested in making a record for the home voters tried unsuccessfully to kill this declaration. But not a Dixie delegate lifted a foot to walk out of the hall, as many of them have done in the past.

The most patent explanation of this was that they didn't want to upset by a bolt whatever chance Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas might have to get the top nomination.

Despite Kennedy's formidable lead, campaign strategists for his opponents one by one ticked off their determination to place their favorites' names in nomination.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn said he will offer Johnson's name with confidence the Senate Democratic leader will win out in the end.

Gov. James T. Blair Jr. of Missouri said he is presenting his fellow Missourian, Sen. Stuart Symington, to the convention with the belief that Kennedy is 70 to 80 votes short of the 761 needed for the nomination.

Blair did not discount the possibility of a Kennedy cruncher, even on the second ballot. But he shook off as premature suggestions that Symington might agree to take second place on the ticket.

Man In Crash Given 10 Days

Judge Also Imposes Fine Of $250, Costs

A Harker Ave. motorist, cited July 1 in connection with a hit-skip crash on Avondale St., was fined $250 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail on three traffic counts by Municipal Judge Samuel Chertoff this morning.

Delbert O. Hull, 62, of 1169 Harker Ave. was fined $250 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail for driving while intoxicated, and 10 days in jail each on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and driving without a license — all the jail terms to run concurrently.

Hull was arrested by city police after a search for an "old green sedan" which witnesses of the Avondale St. crash said struck parked autos owned by Richard Barker, 1064 Avondale St. and John Robinson of Pan Ave., Chester.

Hull had been slated for a hearing July 5, but it was continued because he was in City Hospital.

James D. Ferguson of N. Surry Rd. was fined $20 and costs on a reckless operation charge filed Saturday by the State Highway Patrol, which cited him Saturday on Route 7.

Religion Issue Brought Out At Convention

Wires Hit Kennedy; Baptist Clergymen Make Petition Bid

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The issue raised by Sen. John F. Kennedy's religion hung over the Democratic convention today as the moment neared for balloting on a presidential candidate.

Kennedy is a Roman Catholic. That will both help him and hurt him, as he himself analyzes it. He says the two reactions will cancel each other. But the issue is there.

Telegrams urging delegates not to vote for him, because of his religion, have reached several state delegations.

Three Baptist clergymen are trying to put before the convention a petition—with 500,000 signatures, they say—opposing any Catholic for president or vice president.

Several speakers have alluded publicly to Kennedy's religion.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who favors Adlai E. Stevenson for the nomination, told a news conference that although the religious issue has played no important part in the political picture so far, she did not know whether this would still be the case going into November, the election month.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, himself a candidate for the nomination, said Tuesday: "We proved in the West Virginia primary that Protestants will vote for a Catholic. Now we want some of the Catholic states to prove they'll vote for a Protestant."

But Johnson also said: "Our party is not going to veto a man or vote for a man because of his religion."

In a speech before the American Society of Newspaper Editors

Stock Loss Revealed In TST Safe Robbery

Investigation of a safe burglary Sunday at the Taylor, Smith & Taylor Co. at Chester continued today as police sought to track down thieves who took some $780 in cash, along with $2,000 in negotiable stock.

A $50 travelers check also was in the loot removed from the large walk-in vault after thieves pried the metal door open with crowbars. The cash was in denominations of $20, $10 and $5 bills, it was reported.

The negotiable stock was issued by the Potters Savings & Loan Association, according to the investigation.

Southerners Fail To Block Rights Plank

Democrats OK Platform, With Eye On White House

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Democrats hope to move back into the White House on a platform bemoaned by Southerners for its strong stand on civil rights. The Southerners tried to knock out the plank but failed.

The platform, adopted by the Democratic National Convention Tuesday night, covered much more than civil rights. It was a 15,000-word statement that accused the Republicans of taking an eight-year "holiday from history."

But the civil rights debate, although less bitter than previous ones in Democratic history, enlivened the session in the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

After an hour of wrangling, Gov. Leroy Collins, the convention chairman, called for a vote on a Southern proposal to eliminate the civil rights plank Collins listened to the ayes and noes and decided that the South had failed.

Then Collins called for a vote on adopting the entire platform. He received almost as many noes as ayes. In fact, some listeners on the platform thought there was more volume to the noes.

But Collins didn't hesitate. He announced that the platform had been adopted. Cheers and catcalls greeted his ruling.

The platform fired a volley of verbal missiles at President Eisenhower's administration and promised to bolster America's military, political, economic and moral strength.

One poke at the GOP went this way: "We Democrats believe that our economy can and must grow at an average rate of 5 per cent annually, almost twice as fast as our average annual rate since 1953. We pledge ourselves to policies that will achieve this goal without inflation."

The civil rights plank called for federal injunction powers to enforce racial equality in voting, education and employment, and an end to federal aid to segregated housing projects.

It said 1963, the 100th anniversary of Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, should be the deadline for at least first-step compliance with desegregation in every school district.

The platform, dubbed a "rights of man" party program, covered other matters.

It pledged to rebuild U.S. military power to unquestioned world superiority and also to wage a peace offensive with a revamped foreign policy aimed at winning eventual world disarmament.

The platform also made a strong vote-baiting bid to farmers and labor unions. It promised a boost in farm price supports and repeal of many present federal restrictions on union practices. It pledged repeal of the present federal sanction for state right-to-work laws.

Other pledges included federal aid to education, housing and small business; help for economically distressed areas; a $1.25 federal minimum wage; health care insurance for the aged under the social security system; and nationwide uniformity in unemployment benefit payments.

Kennedy Pledged To Visit County During Vote Drive

(Editor's Note: Following is the second report on sidelights of the Democratic National Convention, furnished by telephone to the Review by Maurice Rapport of East Liverpool, an alternate delegate.)

By MAURICE RAPPORT

LOS ANGELES — Sen. John Kennedy has promised to visit Columbiana County during his campaign for the Presidency this fall.

He made the pledge to me in a personal conversation after a reception for the delegates and their families and friends Tuesday.

I asked if he would come to Columbiana County as part of his campaign if he wins the nomination, which everyone here concedes is a foregone conclusion.

"Absolutely," he replied. "After all, Ohio was one of the first states in the nation to support me."

He evidently referred to the pledge of support which he received early in 1960 from Gov. Michael V. DiSalle, head of the Ohio delegation. Gov. DiSalle's delegates are pledged to him as a "favorite son," but with the unwritten understanding their convention votes will go to the young senator from Massachusetts.

Sen. Kennedy, all smiles at the progress he had made, predicted victory on the first convention ballot. I found him very charming and friendly. Everywhere he goes, he is accompanied by one or more members of his large family, generally a sister or one or both of his brothers.

I talked with Sen. Kennedy after the reception his supporters staged at the Biltmore Hotel for all

Japan Delays Election Of New Premier

TOKYO (AP)—Factional rivalries within the ruling Liberal-Democratic party today postponed election of Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi's successor at least 24 hours, but Huyato Ikeda was still considered likely to win Thursday.

Ikeda, known for his pro-Western thinking and tough anti-inflationary policies, was believed to command enough of the party convention's 513 votes to win on at least the second ballot. Only a simple majority is needed.

Resignation of Kishi's cabinet and election of the new party president to the prime ministry by the lower house of Parliament was expected to follow immediately after the party election.

Kishi, after bringing the new U. S.-Japanese military treaty into effect, announced June 23 he would resign. After 3½ years in office, he had been under heavy fire from some members of his own party as well as leftist opponents of the treaty.

U.S. Expects Soviet To Try Two Officers

Holds Little Hope For Release Of Pair Shot Down In Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials hold little hope of winning freedom for two Air Force officers held in the Soviet Union after the shooting down of an American reconnaissance bomber on July 1.

The expectation here is that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will pu the two men on trial on charges of espionage in order to promote his campaign against American bases in Allied countries.

The United States formally demanded release of the two officers Tuesday in a note delivered to the Soviet Foreign Ministry by the embassy in Moscow.

The note rejected Soviet charges that the aircraft was on a spy mission similar to that of the U2 high-altitude jet which went down in the Ural Mountains May 1. It was that incident which preceded the breakup of the summit conference and the development of bitter new cold war conflict between Washington and Moscow.

The RB47 which was accused by the Soviet government of violating its air space on July 1 in the

Shoub To Obtain List To Pick New Officer

Mayor William J. Shoub of Wellsville said today he is awaiting an eligibility list from the Civil Service Commission to make an appointment to fill an expected vacancy on the police force.

Patrolman Joseph A. Heiney is resigning, effective Aug. 1, to enter full time plumbing and heating work.

Heiney submitted his resignation of Safety-Service Director William S. Robinson July 1. Shoub said he should receive the list sometime this week.

Kennedy

the delegates, their families and friends. All the district delegation attended.

Sen. Kennedy's brother, Ted, spoke to the Ohio delegation at its caucus earlier yesterday. He is the exact image of his brother and has many of his mannerisms.

Following the Biltmore reception, we returned to the Ohio delegation's hotel headquarters to get ready for our first visit to the convention in the Los Angeles Sports Arena.

It's a huge indoor bowl, like a Forbes Field under roof. It seats 22,000. As we entered, we found thousands standing outside, unable to get in because they could not get tickets for the spectators' gallery.

On the convention floor, I talked with Sen. Hubert Humphrey, who tried unsuccessfully to wrest the nomination from Sen. Kennedy in a series of primaries earlier in the year.

I asked if he would be a candidate for vice president and he gave me a very long answer which boiled down to "No." Then I asked if he felt he had made any mistakes in his campaign and if he would handle it differently if he ran again.

"My only mistake was that I wasn't a millionaire," he said, referring to the oft-repeated charge that the Kennedy forces spent heavily in the primaries.

Sen. Humphrey told me he is supporting Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota for the vice presidency, a fact he later disclosed again in a television interview.

During the conventon proceedings Tuesday night, I sat next to Mayor Anthony Celebreeze, the colorful and friendly mayor of Cleveland. He surprised me with his knowledge of East Liverpool. He asked particularly about the pottery industry.

All the Presidential candidates have distributed many gifts and souvenirs to the delegates, but the "token" from Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas topped all the rest.

The majority leader gave each delegate a handsome brief case with the printed notation: "Delegate to the 1960 Democratic National Convention." Underneath is the Texas senator's name.

More sights and sounds of the convention:

Rep. Wayne L. Hays, a district delegate, reading a telegram from Adlai Stevenson's forces inviting him to a reception. He was flanked by Don Gosney of Columbiana, county party chairman and his constant companion.

Many of the Ohio delegates setting off for a visit to Disneyland Monday afternoon before the convention proceedings opened.

The Ohio delegates taking snapshots of each other around the Olympic size pool at our headquarters, the Hotel Figueroa. And the men seemed to be doing more "posing" than the women!

It would take about 200 million atoms in a row to measure one inch.

Hancock

Nichols also explained that the law violations pertaining to whiskey sales and gambling in the Northern Panhandle seem to result from the attitude of officials that the public wants it that way.

"The officials will have to enforce the standards of the law," he said.

Nichols visited Tuesday in Brooke County, talking to Sheriff Dave Rees and Prosecutor Ralph Pryor. Today he talked with Hancock Sheriff Clayton H. Hobbs and was scheduled to confer with Prosecutor Frank A. Pietranton this afternoon.

He will report his findings to the Crime Commission, which is expected to hold public hearings in the future "to bring to the attention of the public the conditions that exist." The date and place of the first hearing will be decided by the Crime Commission.

Nichols would not say what vice conditions he had found in his investigations in Hancock and Brooke Counties other that "what is common knowledge." He made no definite queries on prostitution other than in Ohio County.

The 39-year-old attorney will leave Greater Pittsburgh Airport tonight at 6:30 to return to his law practice in Charles Town.

Driver Fined, Jailed

LISBON — James Nicklow, 54, of Elyria was fined $150 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail Tuesday by Mayor Dean Stockman for driving while under the influence of alcohol. He was cited by village police Monday evening on Route 154 in the southwest section of Lisbon.

Religion

in Washington last April 21, Kennedy referred to the issue.

"Nor am I appealing, as is too often claimed, to a so-called Catholic vote," he said. "Even if such a vote exists—which I doubt — I want to make one thing clear again: I want no votes solely on account of my religion. Any voter, Catholic or otherwise, who feels another candidate would be a superior president should support that candidate. I do not want any vote cast for me for such illogical and irrelevant reasons."

Most of the opposition to Kennedy, on religious grounds, appeared to be coming from Southern states.

Former Gov. James E. Folsom of Alabama issued a statement saying: "Let's face the facts. The paramount issue of segregation and integration is segregation and integration of church and state."

Dr. L. A. Mosely, an Alabama delegate, said he had received a telegram which said, "If you vote for Kennedy, you can come back to Uniontown (his home) but only long enough to pack your bags."

Annapolis Royal, Nova Scotia, founded by the French in 1604, is the oldest European settlement in North America north of the Gulf of Mexico.

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor breath". An Opportunity To Do A Job

While the slot machines and the dice games continue full blast, self-respecting, law-abiding residents of Hancock County are becoming more and more alarmed over the situation, but all the while asking: "What can be done about it?"

Tuesday afternoon one such resident — angered to the point of considering moving from the county — dropped into our office to discuss the problem. The story was not new. It has come from others equally fed up with the whole mess.

And always lurking in the background is that question: "What can be done about it?"

Recourse to normal county governmental channels has availed little. Too many hands appear to be tied to expect any action on such a level. And the governor's office at Charleston still has given little indication of being seriously concerned about the matter.

Apparently the one hope at present lies with the general counsel for the West Virginia Crime Commission, who is visitng New Cumberland today in an effort to obtain a clearer picture of what is going on in the county.

The Crime Commission has an opportunity to render the state of West Virginia an outstanding service by digging into the various violations and taking steps to see that they are eliminated. The problem can be solved if the desire is there.

Probably the best way to get to the heart of things would be by unannounced on-the-spot visits to as many of the trouble spots as possible. Mere talking with public officials will do little good unless there should be a complete about-face over previous efforts.

Let's hope that the Crime Commission will prove a powerful force in launching an all-out war on Hancock County's corruption.

Energy—Plus Courage

The flame of hope which was sparked for mentally retarded children five years ago in this district continues to burn brighter and brighter through the efforts of the Columbiana County Retarded Children's Council and its many supporters.

Centralization of the three present classes—here and at Lisbon and Salem — is planned soon at an extra building at the Elkton School, offered to the Council by the Beaver Local School District through a generous leasing agreement.

Only five years ago there were no organized facilities for training youngsters unable to maintain the educational pace in the public schools. Furthermore, there was an atmosphere of self-consciousness about the whole aspect of mental retardation, a lack of understanding about the problems of the youngsters and the extent of their potential to enjoy useful lives.

Since the founding of the Council, classes have been established, with the cooperation of the schools, state and county governments, to provide a positive teaching program for these young people, enabling them to travel the path of learning at slow but progressive stages.

And the work of the Council has shown the public the problem of mental retardation can be any family's, and should by everyone's concern.

The Council shortly will launch its annual drive for funds to operate the expanding program. Support for the drive is greatly deserved, not just for the vital need, but as a tribute to the energy of the members of the Council and to the courage of the youngsters whose many obstacles none of us can truly realize.

Time To Be Thrice Shy

Even if the United States never had been reviled by Cubans, whose ancestors were liberated by U.S. action, or reviled by hostile elements in the Philippines, it should know better than to think it could win gratitude for intervening in the unsettled affairs of the republic of Congo.

Even if U.S. troops had won a vote of gratitude among Asiatics for stepping in under United Nations authority when Korea was in trouble; if they had been greeted as benefactors for their intercessions in South America and Central America; if the world was ready to think of armed intervention as a police action, instead of an act of unilateral coercion—the United States still would have no reason to send troops to restore order in the republic of Congo.

As it is, the United States would get nothing out of sending troops to this disorderly new nation but an evil reputation among all the new nations of Africa. It has been burned this way before.

It would become involved in the chaotic politics of one evolving society still many generations away from stability and might become involved in the politics of others among the new nations.

The busybodies of the international Communist conspiracy would crucify it whenever and wherever they could find a gullible audience willing to believe the worst. They would accuse it of force and colonialism.

America's historic conception of the Monroe Doctrine as a Keep Out sign posted on the New World would be twisted to make the United States seem to be in violation of its principle that interference is in itself an unfriendly act, regardless of motive.

No stretch of even a hopeful imagination can produce anything but the gloomiest prospect for the use of U.S. troops to restore order in the Republic of Congo. It would be an ill-considered action that would give every African for generations to come an impression of the United States that would hurt it among the rising nations of the one-time Dark Continent.

We'll Miss Paul Butler

There aren't too many men in the vortex of national politics capable of blaming President Eisenhower for being kept out of Japan by student riots, or for Premier Khrushchev's recent success in dropping pebbles into the international gear box. Paul Butler, who shortly will be retiring as chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is one of the few.

When President Franklin D. Roosevelt was dickering in the White House itself, for peace with Japanese diplomats while their own navy was attacking Pearl Harbor, the United States blamed Japan for its perfidy. But according to Butler, the United States now should blame its own chief executive for the perfidy of others.

This is Butler at his best — and worst. For more than five years he has been the most limber-tongued spokesman for the section of the Democratic party that believed in him. But he made enemies inside his party as recklessly as he has made enemies among Republicans. He spared no one's feelings when his tongue was sharp.

He construed this to be part of his job — to strike sparks. Harmony was not consonant with his nature, which is essentially controversial. He never has apologized for this, nor did he apologize for it in his "swan song" at the opening session of the Democratic National Convention. He has been true to himself, always.

We'll miss him, no matter who his successor happens to be. No one could have a sharper tongue, or fewer inhibitions about lashing out first and binding up wounds later, if onlookers proved to be sensitive to the sight of blood.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

United Nations, which can't control adults who are making a mess of the world, is out with views on controlling kids! This is the switch of the decade.

The U.N. committee probing juvenile crime comes up with the verdict that old-fashioned discipline of moppets through shingle or rod does no good. This world organization which can't get to first base disarming the world would DISARM MOM AND POP!

Stymied in its efforts to ban atomic bombs, intercontinental rockets, etc., the U.N. would scrap paddles, birchsticks and the well directed hand in the general direction of the buttocks.

Parents, already frustrated in a desperate effort to discipline the young, are more bewildered than ever.

They fear the U.N. may call a summit session and declare it an act of aggression if popper takes Junior out behind the woodshed and goes to work with a shingle.

The kids are for the U.N. action. They favor complete disarmament of parents and insist on CONTROLS AND INSPECTIONS! "How can we be sure dad hasn't securely stowed away a supply of razorstrops or yardsticks somewhere and plans a surprise attack just because we brush off advice?" they ask.

Moppets may favor an open skies agreement so they can fly over homes and woodsheds reporting any case of a father whittling a birch-branch or rolling up his sleeves.

The U.N. verdict giving veto to "spare the rod and spoil the child" idea constitutes invasion of the old homestead, say some parents and looks silly in view of the U.N. timidity against Fidel, Nikita and others doing more harm than the kids.

"Let United Nations keep its nose out of family," cried one pop today. "It wasn't created to make life tougher for folks trying to instill a little sense of discipline into their offspring."

IT'S A TOPSY-TURVY WORLD. In New York taxi drivers are now expected to TIP THE PASSENGER! The 10-cent city tax on every ride has been repealed and cabbies are asked to cut the meter fare by a dime until neters are readjusted. This appears to be asking too much of taxi drivers, who by instinct, training and tradition are again handing over money or credit, to passenger. It takes courage beyond the call of taxicabbing on part of customers to press the point. In some cases both cabbies and passengers are echoing U.S. Gran' words, "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." Thousands of people are paying the full are rather than endure the scornful look.

Two hundred million roadmaps per year are distributed by oil companies. (Why do we always reach into the compartment at a confusing crossroads and find only maps covering some other state?)

Casey Stengel's priceless crack after losing a close game through a called fourth strike, "Ryne Duren throws so fast not even the umpires can see where it goes."

Mansfield theater, N.Y., will be renamed for Brooks Atkinson, famed critic whose comment is, "I'm glad I'll never have to review any plays in it." . . .

We liked Jim Reston's line about the convention crowd where the politician promised "More work for all" and got a shouted reply, "Who wants more work?"

A Little Paint Will Fix It All

Ike Misses The Boat At Labor Dinner

By Victor Riesel

It was 7:25 on the evening of June 29 and the President of the United States was halfway down the stairs of the Washington Statler - Hilton on his way to his car. Suddenly he snapped his fingers in chagrin. Dwight Eisenhower then turned to those with him, Labor Secretary Jim Mitchell and the Railroad Clerks chief, George Harrison.

Victor Riesel

They were escorting the President from the big labor banquet he had just addressed.

I forgot, he said, to tell them that George Meany (AFL - CIO president) in Europe now symbolizes the kind of thing I said was labor's constructive role in international affairs.

Mitchell had not yet spoken. When he returned to the dais, he told the union leaders that the President had asked especially that his praise of Meany's work abroad be passed on.

Those 10 minutes on June 29 are characteristic of almost eight futile years of the administration's effort to effect some reconciliation between the Republican party and the labor leaders.

THERE WERE 800 there that night and not a single Republican among them—at least not one who would say so publicly.

In fact, even as they were breaking bread in honor of Jim Mitchell and listening to the President, labor's political strategists were preparing anti-Eisenhower material.

They were taking no chance that Eisenhower may have won some of labor's sympathy as a result of that night or of the White House's active aid during the past seven years.

There are only two national officials of any consequence who have spoken out for Richard Nixon.

They are Lee Minton, president of the Glass Bottle Blowers Union, and Morris Weissberger, head of the Sailors Union of the Pacific.

The anti-Eisenhower literature was distributed by the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE) during the week preceding the Democratic convention.

There was no semblance of labor's officially stated neutrality. There was nothing personal in the anti-Eisenhower-Nixon sentiment.

What is historically important here is that the union leaders, heading into final post-war normalcy and a series of showdowns with major industries, frankly want an avowed friend in the White House.

IT WAS MADE CLEAR in all of the conferences of the hundreds of labor leaders just before they headed for LA that they did not even want a neutral neutral.

It is only "from another Franklin D. Roosevelt type President" that they can get what they believe they need in the coming eight years. Such cooperation was promised by John Kennedy and Adlai Stevenson and some darker horses. What is it they asked for?

Walter Reuther, for example, would like the government to create a new agency to hold public hearings on corporation economic and pricing policies. This agency would have power to subpena witnesses and records.

The Steelworkers' David McDonald wants a law which would slash the work week to 30 or at most 32 hours. In the steel industry he would institute a four-day work week.

GEORGE MEANY, being national spokesman, naturally was wider in scope. He asked the Democrats for a pledge to repeal all state right-to-work laws. The statute exists in 19 states where it prohibits the union shop and the dues checkoff.

He bluntly urged the end of southern control of Congress by taking the committee chairmanships from such men as Virginia's Howard Smith, head of the all powerful House Ways and Means Committee. Meany asked for heavier taxes on corporations, the cutting of the Federal Reserve Board's independence.

Together, the labor leaders called for the expenditures of scores of billions of dollars for medical aid and vast construction projects. Together they asked for heavy revisions of the Taft-Hartley law and the new Landrum Griffin Act's picketing sections.

In Los Angeles they were pledged all this and more. That is to be expected.

It won't be so in Chicago. In many areas, labor is the Democratic party. Those areas will grow with the years.

The Party Platform

By Raymond Moley

Every four years, on the eve of each of our great political conventions, a handful of men gather and in a spastic performance come up with what is known as the party's political platform.

Almost always, it is like a dress that is worn but once. For it is little more than a combination of generalities and compromises, roughly stitched, stapled, scotch-taped, and pasted together to give the political party some garb to wear in public for a short time.

To change the figure of speech, the whole business is rather like seeing a collapsed balloon dragged out of storage, scrubbed off, patched, touched up with some new decorations and, with much pulling and hauling, much huffing and puffing, inflated to a size that will lift it off the ground and for a time attract the attention of as many spectators as bother to look up.

WE CANNOT SAY that our party platforms are a "true reflection" of what the mass parties stand for. And from experience we see that for the most part promises contained therein are neither binding nor devoutly respected.

Most candidates go on to state their own program during a campaign. Once elected, they are even more inclined to disregard platform promises.

If this sounds a bit harsh on an esteemed and venerable political exercise of our democracy, dust off the 1932 Democratic platform and read that a Democratic administration would reverse the big spending, big government policies of the Republicans and handle the depression with "an immediate and drastic reduction of government expenditures . . . to accomplish a saving of not less than 25 per cent in the cost of federal government."

Of 1956 pledges, the parties have made good on but one — statehood for Hawaii and Alaska.

There are other ways by which the aspirations of party membership might find a greater measure of fulfillment. Efforts should be made to de - emphasize the party platform and the way it is concocted.

We might look to another land for another approach. Britain has an institution which we might study. It is the Annual Conference.

The Conservative and Labor parties hold Annual Conferences for 2½ and 4½ days.

They are attended by local constituency leaders, party officials, hard-working supporers, members of Parliament and, for the party in power, ministers.

At a Conference, debate and discussion flourish and certain resolutions may be passed, although they are not binding upon elected party members.

British political life in the 1920's and 1930's was studded with spectacular debates at these conferences, but recently the conference has served more as a source of stimulation to the constituency representatives who attend and as a demonstration of party solidarity.

One chairman put it pugently, "In a way this is the power house for next year's propaganda for the good old Tory party."

ONE MINISTER explained two advantages the Annual Conference gave a minister: "In the first place, it enabled him to gauge to some extent the feeling in the party about any proposal with which he was concerned; and in the second place, if any criticism was called forth (by Conference proposals) it might give him an opportunity to answer such criticism."

Also, meeting every year rather than every four years gives both British parties an opportunity to thrash out and perhaps achieve solidarity on important problems that tend to crop up unexpectedly.

Something along the annual Conference line could replace our ineffectual party platform device and the feeble approach offered by "advisory committees."

This could bring together annually congressional leaders, governors, state chairmen, national committeemen, cabinet members, and other party leaders.

Our parties might then have something more substantial to stand for from year to year.

Bandwagon Spectacle

By David Lawrence

Convention Ignores Overseas Crises

LOS ANGELES

National political conventions are incredibly self - centered. There's a crisis going on in the world that could mean war—but you don't get the slightest feeling of awareness of it here.

Whether Cuba may start a fire which will spread its damage through Latin America or whether Nikita Khrushchev will follow up his threats against the United States by some untoward act—none of this seems to worry or bother the delegates or even the candidates.

Everything is focused on a "bandwagon"—how to swing delegates so that an impression of unanimity behind the nominee will be given as he starts off his campaign with a psychological bang.

But one can't help feeling that, if the American people really could understand the artificialities and contrived mechanisms of this or any other convention, they would move to do away with the present system of choosing party nominees and develop something more in keeping with the ideals and the dignity of the United States.

Most of the delegates are not free agents. Many of them are the puppets of the bosses or organization leaders who sent them here. Several are officeholders who have their political futures to safeguard.

THE LEADERS who make the trades and deals are usually veteran politicians capable of talking ambiguities in public and succumbing to pressures in private that come from the man who has the "mostest" to offer in the way of political benefits on the local or state or federal level.

The idea of mobilizing for the convention a group of throughtful, well-informed Americans—the best 1,520 in the party—chosen in the first instance for their knowledge and judgment is not even mentioned.

The system is criticized outside but not inside the party except occasionally as delegates take their hair down to one another and admit the current method is seriously defective.

This writer has watched at first hand every campaign since 1912 and has attended every national convention since 1916. So this is the 23rd convention in a row, and it must be confessed that they have changed very little over the years. They are still the same childish spectacles they have always been.

Oddly enough, as one looks back, there has been an international crisis in the background more often than not.

In 1916 World War I was on, and the Democrats at St. Louis were boasting that President Wilson had, "Kept us out of war." Yet within a few months thereafter America had entered the war.

RESENTMENT against American entry into that war caused the Democrats to lose in 1920.

The Republicans campaigned thereafter continuously against America's participation in the League of Nations and gradually the Democrats came to the same conclusion.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who had been ardently for the League in 1920 as the Democratic candidate for vice president, deserted his friends in that cause in 1932 to get needed support in his effort to win the Democratic presidential nomination at the Chicago convention.

International affairs played a part in the Chicago convention of the Democrats in 1940, when Hitler had already invaded France and even the third-term tradition was waived to make FDR the Democratic nominee in the midst of an era of crisis.

He was able for the same reason to win renomination in 1944 for a fourth term.

Again in 1952 international affairs were in the background as the country was eager to have the boys brought home from Korea and a stop applied to the drafting of any more.

As recently as 1956, the pressure of international issues was evident, and during the campaign the Suez crisis helped the Republicans because the country was in no mood to "change horses in midstream."

THIS CONVENTION is disregarding foreign issues and war threats as it turns toward a candidate inexperienced in international affairs, but these questions may be uppermost in the coming campaign.

Criticism of the Eisenhower leadership will be voiced in the platform adopted here and in the speeches, but as yet nothing has crystallized on what the Democratic nominee, if elected, would actually do if Nikita Khrushchev keeps up his insults and really interferes in Cuba and Latin America.

Do the Democrats favor going to war?

This is the question the Republicans will ask again and again during the campaign.

As for convention sentiment, it is far removed even from thinking about the rest of the world and the threats from the Communists.

This convention is too self-centered to worry about anything except its own "bandwagon" and the hour.

Issues And Individuals

By James Marlow

LOS ANGELES

The 1960 Democratic convention is something less than emotional—in fact, dull so far—because more than just enthusiasm for an individual is involved.

The delegates' problem is a mixture of issues and individuals, since none of the would-be Democratic presidential candidates is an overwhelming personality.

And when the campaign begins—with Vice President Richard M. Nixon almost certain to be the Republican candidate—the voters will have to wrestle with the same twin problem of issues and personality.

This was not the case, for instance, in 1956 when Adlai E. Stevenson went into far more details on issues and where he stood than President Eisenhower, only to see the immensely popular Eisenhower swamp him.

The hopeful senators from whom the Democratic convention had to choose today—Sens. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri—have had fairly liberal voting records.

The distinction between them on the issues has been, in a broad sense, a distinction on fine points. To put it another way, on the issues the convention had little to choose, although Northern voting Negroes and organized labor made the fine distinctions and chose Kennedy over Johnson.

Symington has had an extremely liberal voting record, yet he is as of now a poor third. Therefore, something more than just issues alone have to be factors in whatever the convention does.

It's at this point the personality problem enters, plus some other factors.

Kennedy spent far more time in 1960 trying to line up delgates for today—by visiting their states, seeking them out, running in their primaries—than did Johnson or Symington. They ran in no primaries.

Symington handicapped himself in other ways. He didn't say he was a candidate until late, didn't get around enough, and concentrated so much on national defense that he sacrificed appeal to various other group interests, even though his interests are far wider than just defense.

Johnson probably outsmarted himself — although extraordinarily careful about details — in relying on supporters than Kennedy did in rounding up delegates in the months preceding the convention. Kennedy did a lot of it first hand.

Johnson may have felt his work as majority leader in the Senate would make up for this—particularly as the Senate rolled up a legislative record—but it hasn't so far. And the Senate record has been very meager.

In addition to any leg work they did in rounding up delegates, the three men had to concern themselves with the problem of their personality.

Each had the task of trying to make himself appear the one best fitted to cope with the tense and unpredictable issues facing the country in the next four years.

This explains why Johnson, eight years older than Kennedy, tried to get across the idea an older man is needed and why former President Harry S. Truman, backing Symington who is older than either Kennedy or Johnson, implied Kennedy is too young and lacks experience.

The one chosen at this convention will have that same competent-personality problem to put across to the voters when the campaign begins and he runs against Nixon.

But Nixon will have exactly the same problem, beside dealing with the issues, since he cannot hope to sail in on personality. And for this reason: He simply lacks the popularity and war-hero stature that Eisenhower had when he won in 1952 and 1956.

The voter will have to decide which man's ideas—meaning his stand on the issues—appeals to him and which seems the more likely to be able to handle what lies ahead.

Julia Ward Howe, who wrote "Battle Hymn of the Republic," was sometimes a minister. She gave her sermons in the Unitarian Church.

Voters approved the general bond issue April 26 for the state-mandated project, which was scheduled to have been in operation in April 1958.

Contracts will include general construction and plumbing and heating work. The borough will have up to 60 days in which to award contracts.

The firm of Hosack, Specht, Muetzel & Wood of Pittsburgh was awarded a contract March 10 for the preparation of the general obligation bond issue. By using general bonds rather than authority or revenue bonds, the firm said the project will cost at least $100,000 less.

The borough has 4½ acres of land donated by Crucible as a site for the plant. The company promised 1½ acres in 1921 and added 3 acres in 1956. Plans were prepared by Chester Engineers, Inc., of Pittsburgh and have been revised as of 1957.

The plant will be located near the west limits of the borough on former Crucible property between the main and spur lines of the railroad tracks.

Delay in building the plant resulted when over the years efforts failed to get aid from the Federal government because of the borough's healthy financial condition.

H. L. Mencken defined wealth as "any income that is at least $100 more a year than the income of one's wife's sister's husband."

Often Taken For Intellectuals

How About Pipe Smokers?

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that they have eradicated bubonic plague, dance marathons and the mosquitoes in the Jersey meadows, it's high time some high minded crusader took out after pipe smokers.

For centuries these peripatetic chimneys have gone unpunished while carelessly stewing hot ashes on the hearthstone of humanity.

The forgotten hero who dumped a bucket of water on Sir Walter Raleigh's initial attempt to introduce pipe smoking to Europe deserves better of history. He failed, but he had the right idea.

Mortal man seldom looks more ridiculous than when sucking on a noisome blazing bowl or groping feverishly in an oil silk sack for the fuel to feed a ludicrous habit that he cannot kick. By comparison, the cigarette smoker is an urbane sophisticate and the cigar smoker a paragon of dignity.

Yet it is the pipe smoker, rather than the man with the cigarette or cigar, who frequently is taken for an intellectual—a classic case of mistaking conflagration for cerebration. Behind the blue swirl of pipe smoke, there is seldom intellectual fire.

The smug chap pursing his lips on a pipe stem may give the impression of mulling over some problem in nuclear fission or pondering some sticky point in Aristotlean logic. Actually, all his physical and mental contortions are concentrated on keeping the absurd boiler beneath his nose going full blast. The fires within have been banked too long.

His thoughts at their deepest concern such titanic issues as whether to tamp down the tobacco tighter or fluff it up looser, and whether to reach into his pocket for a cotton reaming rod to scrape out his nocitine sewer in public.

The fact that the average pipe smoker can keep his counsel in a heated discussion doesn't mean that he is any more prudent, tolerant or worldly wise than the rest of us. It simply means that he is too busy playing stoker to his facial furnace to hear or care about what is being discussed.

People in all walks of life, from tweedy college professors to seedy skidrow deadbeats, have been hiding behind a haze of hypocrisy for years, with nothing more on their minds than whether to puff hard or puff easy. An impatient world invariably mistakes their reticence for sagacity.

But not everyone is fooled.

U.S. Finds No Law Violations In Logan Voting

CHARLESTON (AP) — A wave of rulings, decisions and announcements involving West Virginia's May 10th primary have come from governmental bodies at three levels—from Washington, Charleston and little Wayne.

The U. S. Justice Department announced yesterday that its probe of the primary in Logan County failed to show any federal election law violations.

But the announcement noted there is no federal law specifically covering ballot-box stuffing. That was one of the charges made by Mayor Clyde Freeman of Chapmanville.

The investigation stemmed from complaints by Freeman that there were "all sorts of irregularities."

At the same time, the Justice Department reported it still is conducting an inquiry of the primary in Wayne County.

New Jersey Manhunt Ends

Refugee Sought In Murder Of 6 Wounded By Officer

UNION, N.J. (AP) — Michael Fekecs, a Hungarian refugee accused of murdering six persons, lay in a coma on a hospital bed today, a policeman's bullet lodged in the base of his skull.

The end of one of the most intense manhunts in the state's history came Tuesday night when Fekecs tried to shoot it out with two policemen on a dirt road in a wooded area.

He fired a volley of wild shots before being brought down by a bullet fired by Union Patrolman Walter Leamy.

Fekecs, 25, a lover of sports cars, formal clothes, and jazz records, was being sought by police for questioning in connection with the slaying of two policemen in Highland Park last Sunday.

The search gathered momentum Tuesday after Middlesex County Prosecutor Edward J. Dolan said that Fekecs had killed the two policemen and had slain four other persons on a North Brunswick estate last January.

Doctors at Elizabeth General Hospital said the bullet had caused a massive brain hemorrhage and Fekecs was not expected to live.

Fekecs was picked up Sunday for driving with a revoked operator's license. The two arresting Franklin Township patrolmen, George Dunham, 31, and John Lebed, 30, took him to his apartment so he could get $250 for bail.

The policemen later were found slain on the floor of the one-room apartment. Each had a .32-caliber bullet in his right temple. The murder weapon and Lebed's .38 caliber service revolver were missing.

Dolan said ballistics tests showed the same gun used to kill the two policemen was used to kill four persons on the estate of Dr. Francis Clarke last Jan. 26.

An unidentified person entered Clarke's home while he was away performing an operation, tied up four persons, and shot each through the temple with a .32-caliber pistol. The victims were Clarke's 57-year-old invalid wife, her companion, a maid, and the Newark cab driver who drove the slayer to the large colonial house.

100 Attend Recognition Rite For New Minister

About 100 attended a recognition service for Daniel R. Duerksen, new minister of the Yellow Creek Presbyterian Church, conducted Tuesday night by the Steubenville Presbytery.

He succeeds the Rev. Richard S. Beidler, who is now serving as camp superintendent for the Presbytery of Columbus.

Participating ministers included the Rev. Gene Toot of Hopedale; the Rev. Ernest E. Bacon of the Oak Ridge Presbyterian Church; the Rev. George E. Jenkins of Carrollton, General Presbyter, and the Rev. Joseph H. Varner Jr. of Bethel Presbyterian Church.

A reception was held in the church social rooms for the new minister, his wife, Janet, and their children. Women of the church were in charge.

Calcutta Driver Hurt In 2-Car City Mishap

A Calcutta man suffered bruises as a result of a rear end collision in the downtown area Tuesday afternoon as he was returning from work at a pottery.

Kenneth Birch, 61, of Edgemont Pl. was treated at City Hospital for bruises of the neck and elbow. Birch said he stopped for a traffic signal at Jackson St. and was struck from behind by a car operated by a city man.

Birch was en route home from the Homer Laughlin China Co., where he is a machinist.

Child Escapes When Bicycle Runs Into Car

A 10-year-old boy escaped unhurt when his bicycle collided with a halted car Tuesday at 5:15 p. m. at W. Center Ln. and Jackson St., police reported.

The bike ridden by George Grady, 220½ W. Center Ln., struck a 1959 auto driven by William G. Richards, 241 W. Center Ln., the motorist reported to police. The boy was unhurt, he said.

Richards said he halted his car in W. Center Ln. at the intersection with Jackson St. when the boy, riding south on Jackson, turned into the alley and collided with the car.

A 64-year-old motorist was cited for ignoring a red traffic signal after a collision Tuesday at 9:25 p. m. at E. 6th St. and Broadway.

Police filed the charges against John R. Taylor, 304 Washington St., after a collision that damaged his 1955 four-door sedan and a 1958 two-door operated by Donald E. Boley, 25, of 610 John St.

The mishap damaged the right rear fender and door of the Taylor car and the front bumper and a chrome strip on the Boley auto, officers said.

Taylor was fined $5 and costs by Municipal Judge Samuel Chertoff after he pleaded guilty to failure to halt for the traffic signal.

Another collision at W. 5th and Jackson Sts. at 5:06 p. m. yesterday damaged a 1957 four-door sedan driven by Richard A. Dalton, 20, of Steubenville and a 1958 two-door operated by Rollie B. Brown, 55, of 203 Indiana Ave., Chester, police said. Each blamed the other for the collision, officers said.

Oil From Ohio's Wells Taking Big Business Aspect

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Oil taken from Ohio wells may seem like a drop in the bucket to some southwestern states but it still takes on the aspect of big business.

Ralph Bernhagen, chief of the Ohio Division of Geological Survey, says Ohio produced almost six million barrels of oil in 1959, worth more than 17 million dollars.

A report on the state's oil and gas developments also showed an increase of 2½ billion cubic feet over the previous year in Ohio's gas production.

Total gas produced was more than 36 billion cubic feet, with a value of more than eight million dollars.

The report showed that most drilling activity came in Wayne County which has 237 wells. Of the 95 producing wells there, 22 were gas, 8 were oil and 65 were combinations.

Bernhagen added that increased activity among wildcat operators was noted in central Ohio following discovery of oil in Morrow County.

Boosters To Provide Lunch For Grid Team

Plans to serve lunches for members of the Beaver Local High School football team when practice sessions start late next month were made at a meeting of the Boosters Club Tuesday night at the school.

The club also authorized purchase of 50 posters to advertise the games. George Gaydos reported repairs have been made to the club's bus, used to transport players from practice.

George Wilkinson gave prayer. Lunch was served to 20 by Leslie Jones. The next meeting will be Aug. 9 with Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson as lunch committee.

Kiwanians Hear Resources Aired

The need for increased attention to conservation of natural resources was underscored by Walter Lineberry, Beaver Local High School science instructor, at an outdoor meeting of the Chester Kiwanis Club Tuesday night at the City Park.

Lineberry said great strides in conservation have been made in the past decade, but growing populations and declining resources are making the problem greater and more people should become interested.

He pointed out that three-fourths of the world's population now is underfed and that half of the coal burned in all of history has been consumed in the United States since 1920.

"Experts say in the next 40 years our poulation will double, and we will need more homes, highways and water — especially water, which will be at a premium," he said.

More parks and recreational facilities will be required and Lineberry said West Virginia offers some of the most ideal recreational sites in the nation.

About 21 attended the meeting, at which Alvin Arner, president, was in charge. The cookout committee included Raymond Stevens, Eugene Seeley, Dean Bryan and Russell Davis.

All 64 Pledged To Kennedy

Johnson Aides Get Chance To Woo Ohio's Delegates

By REED SMITH

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Envoys of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex) get a belated chance today to woo Ohio delegates at a caucus only hours before names of presidential aspirants go before the Democratic national convention.

Ohio's 64 votes are pledged firmly to Sen. John F. Kennedy (Mass) on the first ballot, and Gov. Michael V. DiSalle predicts his nomination by acclamation. But a handful of Ohioans, professing admiration for the Texas senator, cling to the hope they will have a chance to vote for him if the namination requires more than one ballot. Some expressed doubt Kennedy had things sewed up.

They demanded equal caucus time after Kennedy's brother, Robert, thanked Ohio delegates at their first meeting here for helping make the Massachusetts senator an early front-runner.

State Chairman William L. Coleman said Oscar Chapman, Johnson's campaign manager, would be welcome at a caucus set for 1:30 p.m.

Coleman blamed a mixup over an agreed ban on outside speakers at the first caucus for refusal to let Rep. James Wright of Texas appear for Johnson, although Robert Kennedy spoke just after the session ended.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Flushing, an 18th District delegate, took Coleman to task for the mixup. Hays apologized later but let it be known he was still smarting over the incident.

He declared earlier that he intended to switch to Johnson on a second ballot, if there is one, and estimated the Texan might get a score of Ohio votes in event of more than one ballot. Others figured the Johnson strength closer to a half dozen votes. A few liked Adlai E. Stevenson.

But Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri appeared far and away the Ohio favorite, after Kennedy. And several said openly that a Kennedy-Symington ticket would carry Ohio in the November election and enable Democrats to retain control of the Legislature, wrested from Republicans two years ago for the first time in a decade.

DiSalle, who has been in close touch with Kennedy, said he had sounded out Symington without success on the idea of seeking the vice presidential nomination.

State Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson, a delegate - at - large, met with Symington Tuesday but said second place on the ticket was not discussed. Ferguson expressed belief Kennedy wasn't sure of the 761 votes needed for nomination.

Ohio labor leaders described the party platform as generally acceptable.

"Some of the planks might be a little more specific, but we are very pleased with the platform as a whole," said State Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown, a delegate-at-large.

Former State Sen. Howard Metzenbaum of Cleveland, Ohio AFL-CIO counsel, termed the civil rights plank favorable to labor ranks. He is not a delegate. At-large delegates Philip Hannah of Columbus, Ohio AFL-CIO president, and Ohio Senate Majority Leader Frank King of Toledo expressed views similar to Carney's. King is a member of both the bricklayers' and teachers' unions.

DiSalle said an alternate he did not name had threatened to pester him for a strong civil rights plank. "We were for it all along," the governor added.

Democrats

Oklahoma made it emphatic that Stevenson's name will be put on the ballot for the countdown which would be reached after time-restricted nominating specehes and the usual hoopla of banner-waving supporters marching and chanting about the hall.

The convention got its first taste of the excitement delegates and spectators crave when Stevenson, twice the party nominee, paid an unannounced visit to the floor Tuesday night.

Surrounded by admirers and newsmen as he reached the outer gates of the convention area, the former Illinois governor literally had to fight his way to the floor behind a cordon of policemen.

His appearance awoke the previously lethargic galleries. They whooped and hollered as they have had few occasions to do in this well-oiled convention. But a lot of voting delegates noticeably sat on their hands.

Kennedy's backers had hoped to get Stevenson to place the Massachusetts senator's name in nomination. But Stevenson stood them off with the observation that he couldn't desert those who had worked so hard to generate a draft for him.

Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff of Connecticut, Kennedy's floor manager, stuck to his line that Kennedy will win the nomination on the first or second ballot.

The Kennedy camp remained so outwardly confident of the result that it was considering giving Johnson the opportunity of refusing second place on the ticket. Some of the Massachusetts senator's backers had half an idea that Johnson might take it.

In such a situation Johnson could run both for re-election to the Senate and for vice president.

This idea drew Bronx cheers from Johnson's supporters.

Berlo's victory in the Coaching Club American Oaks gave jockey Eric Guerin his third win in the stake. He won with Next Move in 1950 and Grecian Queen in 1953.

arctic region of the Kola Peninsula actually was never closer than 30 miles to the Soviet coast, the U.S. note declared.

"It is therefore evident," the note said, "that pursuant to instructions of the Soviet government, airplanes of the Soviet air force wantonly attacked the American airplane over international waters with the admitted loss of that aircraft and of the life of at least one of the members of its crew.

"Two other members of the crew have, according to the Soviet note, been taken into custody without any legal basis and are to be subjected to trial under what is called 'full severity of Soviet law.' The three other members of the crew remain unaccounted for."

The United Sates demanded the release of 1st Lt. John R. McKone, 28, of Tonganoxie, Kan., the navigator, and 1st Lt. F. B. Olmstead, 24, of Elmira, N.Y., the copilot.

The return of the body of the pilot, which the Russians claimed to have recovered from a life raft, also was demanded. He has been identified as Capt. Willard G. Palm, 39, of Oak Ridge, Tenn.

lique. They refused to give up their arms at first but when a Belgian officer began counting they quickly handed them over.

Standing in front of the airport, the AP correspondent could see Congolese soldiers heading in panic across the airfield to empty spaces beyond.

President Joseph Kasavubu and Prime Minister Patrice Lumumba of the Congo Republic sent a telegram to the United Nations charging that a Congo government request for aid by an international force is a "Belgian colonialist plot." The request was sent while they were out of town, they said.

Lumumba told Belgian government representatives here to "get your Belgian troops back to their bases within two hours." But a Belgian spokesman said Belgium does not intend withdrawing its paratroops, who have restored order in Elisabethville and to some extent in Luluabourg. They also are trying to safeguard the valuable port installation at Matadi.

The Congo situation is so desperate that Belgium intends to continue using troops to prevent loss of white lives and to restore order in disturbed areas, the spokesman said.

Dag To Rush U.N. Team To Aid Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold is reported planning to rush U.N. military observers from Palestine to The Congo to help the new African government reorganize its mutinous army.

But diplomatic sources said today the U.N. secretary general does not plan to send any troops since The Congo government asked the U.N. for only administrators.

These sources reported that the military observers, probably Scandinavians, will go to The Congo as army instructors and police advisers in a team of public administrators. Hammarskjold is forming to help the embattled young regime end the chaos which has followed the end of Belgian control.

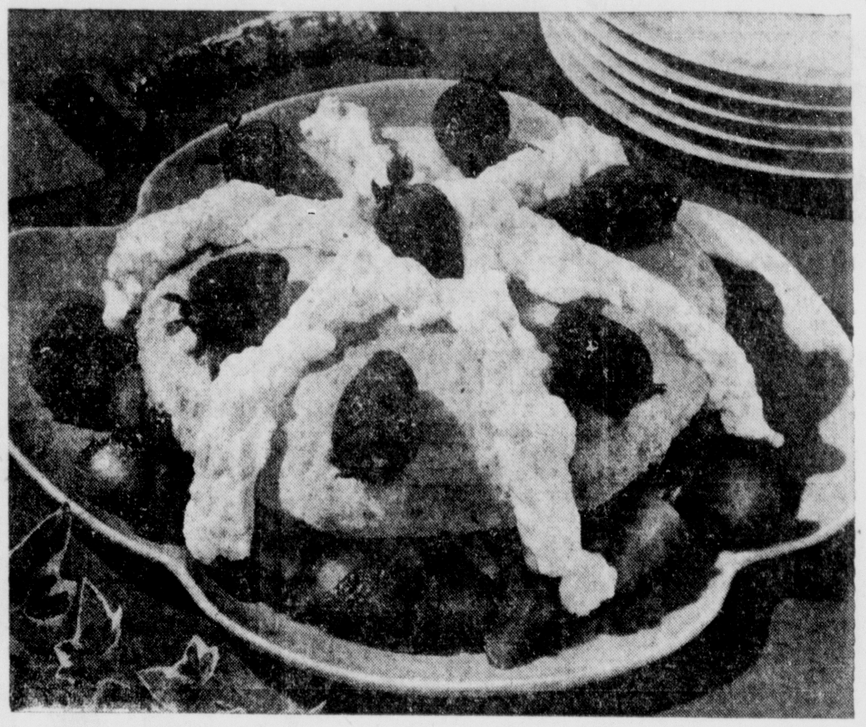
Strawberry Shortcake Is Dessert Favorite



Strawberry shortcake, that perennial queen of delectable desserts, is in season again.

This recipe for buttermilk shortcake produces a crisp bread to complement the sweet, luscious berries.

Strawberry Buttermilk Shortcake

1 quart strawberries cleaned and hulled
¼ cup of sugar
2 cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon mace
2 tablespoons sugar
1-3 cup shortening
2-3 cup buttermilk
¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1 teaspoon milk
1 teaspoon sugar
2 tablespoons soft butter
Whipping Cream

Clean strawberries; save a few for garnish; slice remaining berries and mix with ¼ cup sugar; chill. Sift together cake flour, baking soda, salt, mace and 2 tablespoons sugar. Cut in shortening. Combine buttermilk, lemon rind and lemon juice.

Add to dry ingredients all at once; mix until mixture forms ball. Knead on lightly floured board 30 seconds. Pat or roll to a 7-inch circle (½ inch thick); place on baking sheet. Mark crosswise three ways (but do not cut through) to mark 6 pie-shape wedges.

Brush surface with milk; sprinkle with sugar. Bake in a hot oven 15 to 18 minutes. Split crosswise, spread with butter; fill with most of the sweetened strawberries; cover with top, add remaining sweetened berries. Garnish with whipped cream and whole strawberries.

Hurricane To Carry Gale, Rain To Jamaica

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Abby, the season's first, is expected to carry gale force winds and heavy rainfall to Jamaica today as the tropical storm's northern fringes begin to touch the island.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said Jamaican interests should remain on the alert, as well as interests in the Caymans, northeast Nicaragua and along the north coast of Honduras and the east coast of the Yucatan Peninsula.

Abby changed course a bit to the north during the night and has gained slightly in intensity. Highest winds, however, were still about 85 miles per hour near the storm's center.

House Razing Hazards Cited

The razing of homes in West End to make way for the California Hollow-West End Freeway has started providing troubles for city firemen and the Ohio Power Co.

Firemen said today many persons tearing down the buildings are leaving "hot" electric wires dangling on the property. They are ripping the electric entrance boxes from the homes without notifying the power company to turn off the service at the poles, firemen added.

Firemen said the Ohio Power has received calls that children in the area are using sticks to make the wires touch, creating sparks.

The homes are being torn in the W. 8th St., Chestnut St., MacDonald St. and W. 9th St. areas.

Firemen warned that contact with the wires could kill a person. A check was being made with Solicitor Joseph Cooper to determine if there is a penalty for leaving such a nuisance.

Another problem for firemen is the burning of debris in the cellars of the houses after they have been torn down.

Firemen said they granted permission to burn some of the debris if it is kept under constant surveillance. Firemen were called Monday night at 8:36 to MacDonald St., when one such blaze was left unguarded.

Ohio Power is checking with the State Highway Department to obtain a list of properties to be razed and those who have purchased them so the firm can learn when the work will be done and turn off the electric power.

Hawaiian Setting And Theme Mark Rotary's Meeting

The Rotary Club saluted Hawaii —the 50th state—at its meeting Tuesday in the Travelers Hotel.

James H. Riggs, program chairman, turned the meeting room into a tropical setting with colored pictures of Hawiian scenes. The decorations set the theme for a half-hour color movie on the Hawaiian Islands.

Preceding the movie, which was produced by Libby, McNeill, & Libby Hawaiian Airlines, members had a pineapple flavored lunch of ham with pineapple sauce, a pineapple salad, pineapple and grapefruit juice and ice cream topped with the fresh fruit.

The firm provided a souvenir can of pineapple chunks for each member. All wore colored leis during the meeting. The film illustrated the scenery of the Pacific Island and showed typical Hawaiian customs.

The table at which the club's officers were seated was flanked by a new 50-star flag which became official on July 4.

Riggs is vice president of The Riggs Co. Dr. R. Jay Kinsey, vice president, presided in the absence of George Hargraves, president. Joe Zubay, an East Liverpool High School junior, was projectionist.

Cleveland Boy, 13, Found Dead By Parents

CLEVELAND (AP)—When Mr. and Mrs. Michael T. Harding returned to their east side home Tuesday night they found their 13-year-old son, Michael, lying on the floor dead. His clothes belt was looped around his neck and tied to the bedroom door.

The victim's father said the boy soon was to undergo a fourth operation for a birth defect. Police listed the death as probably accidental.

Industrialist Reassured Premier

Eaton Bared U.S. Intent In Talks With Khrushchev

By N. R. HOWARD
Contributing Editor
to The Cleveland Plain Dealer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cyrus Eaton disclosed, in an exclusive interview with the Cleveland Plain Dealer, that during his talks this year with Premier Nikita Khrushchev of Russia he has reassured the Soviet leader about the intentions and the psychology of American industry.

He has told Khrushchev, he said, that the industrialists of the nation want no war and at no time would put the considerations of their enterprises in any conception ahead of the world's need of peace.

As Mr. Eaton pointed out, the suspicion has been rife in Russia for years that the "capitalist industrialists" of the free-enterprise countries — notably those of the United States, the largest of these —might conceivably confront the possibilities of a third world war in interests of their enterprise. (A considerable part of the United States' economy now rests on military defense production.)

Mr. Eaton declined to quote the Moscow premier, but when asked whether he considered that Khrushchev believed him, said he listened with the greatest of earnestness to everything the Clevelander said.

Eaton clinched his statement—which conceivably might become of historic value in the years to come—with the example of Andrew Carnegie, the greatest steel maker in the world's history and the classic founder of independent steel production for America.

"Mr. Carnegie," he told Premier Khrushchev, "took the immense fortune from his liquidation of his steel interests and used the largest part of it to establish the world's best known foundation for peace, which has been effective for peace almost beyond any other effort.

"His phychology has become tradition for the makers of metal products in America since his day."

As a reassurance concerning the similar psychology of industrialists elsewhere in the free world, Mr. Eaton discussed with Khrushchev various talks he had had with Alfred Krupp, principal entrepreneur of the famous German steel, chemicals, banking, and munitions dynasty. In these, the Clevelander said, Krupp declared that he prayed not to be forced ever again to become a "producer for a war."

In the regimes of both Kaiser Wilhelm II and Adolph Hitler, Krupp recounted, the family interests were given no choice but to become the largest German munitions producers. At the present tme, according to Mr. Eaton, Mr. Krupp faces the possibility of still another governmental pressure to return to the munitions production, and told the Cleveland capitalist of his dread of this eventuality.

The Krupp interests are in various ways associated with the Eaton iron ore properties in Ungava, Canada.

Shipment Delays To Automakers Hit Steel Pickup

NEW YORK (AP)—The expected recovery of steel operations will be slowed by shipment delays requested by automakers, the trade publication Iron Age said today.

The metalworking weekly reported that two of the three major automobile companies have pushed some August tonnage back to September.

This, Iron Age said, means that introduction of 1960 models have been delayed or initial production rates have been reduced.

The magazine, saying that immediate recovery from the July 4 week bottom in steel operations will be less than anticipated, predicted that operations between 50 and 60 per cent of capacity will continue into August.

Rate of incoming orders at mills is running around 45 to 50 per cent of capacity. Orders for many products are lower than 40 per cent because of the relatively high level of flat-rolled business.

There are scattered signs of improvement. Pickups were reported in tubing specialties and standard pipe.

"To Bowdlerize" is to eliminate passages considered indelicate in literary compositions. It derives from Dr. Thomas Bowdler's "family" edition of Shakespeare in 1818.

PUC's Members Face Cross-Exam At Phone Hearing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Staff members of the Public Utilities Commission probably will be cross-examined during hearings this week on General Telephone Co.'s application for a rate increase.

Officials of General Telephone object to part of the commission secretary's report, which outlines the rate base that commission members feel is fair. When there is an objection, staff members instrumental in preparing the report can be called to the stand for questioning.

General—second largest of the telephone companies in Ohio—is asking a 17 per cent annual rate increase amounting to $2,941,651. Company witnesses have been undergoing cross - examination this week.

W. C. Fitch of Harrisburg, Pa., assistant director of the valuation division of Gannett, Fleming, Corddry & Carpenter, Inc., an engineering firm, was questioned Tuesday by Commission Chairman Edward J. Kenealy and Asst. Atty. Gen. Andrew R. Sarisky about his methods of determining depreciation. He was followed on the stand by Walter A. Morton, a University of Wisconsin economics professor and expert on rate of return.

Morton was to continue on the stand today.

Strange Water Animal Reported By Fishermen

MANCHESTER, Mass. (AP) — Two fishermen, Harry and Warren Heath, brothers, say they saw a strange water animal "about 14 to 16 feet long, with a black and white head" off Manchester Tuesday.

The Heaths said the creature surfaced about 30 feet away as they hauled in lobster traps near Egg Rock. Harry said it had two protuberant eyes and a black back that "looked like the shallow keel of an overturned whaleboat." After a few minutes, it submerged, the brothers said.

Council Fixes Utility's Rates

NEW CUMBERLAND — Water and sewage rates were adopted by Village Council Tuesday night.

The rates will be submitted to the West Virginia Public Service Commission for approval. They will go into effect immediately upon approval and the money derived will be used for the eventual construction of a sewage disposal plant.

The minimum water rate was set at $3.35 per month, including a meter charge of 65 cents. Sewage will be $2.70 minimum.

Customers will be charged 90 cents per 1,000 gallon for the first 3,000 gallons of water used; 75 cents per for the next 7,000 gallons, 50 cents per for the next 20,000 gallons; 35 cents per for the next 70,000 gallons and 32 cents for all over 100,000 gallons.

Sewage charges will be 90 cents per 1,000 gallons for the first 3,000 gallons, based on water consumption, 75 cents per 1,000 for the next 3,000 and 35 cents per 1,000 for all over 6,000 gallons.

Regular customers outside village limits will be charged 10 per cent more and those requiring booster pumping will be charged 20 per cent more.

Council also adopted a motion to construct a catch basin on a storm sewer to be installed at the football field. The New Cumberland Boosters Club is installing the sewer line.

Salineville Site Cleared

Club Obtains Deed To Athletic Field

The deed of the Community Athletic Field at Salineville has been obtained by the Ruritan Club following payment by the club of a grading debt on the field, formerly the property of the Community Improvement Association.

Shown in a ceremony transferring the title are, left to right, Fr. Thomas Beldue of St. Patrick's Catholic Church; Fred Polen, grader to whom the sum was due; Charles Mundy, secretary of the Ruritan Club; Mayor Kenneth Leishman, club president; Atty. Warren Bettis, past Ohio Ruritan governor, and Howard Adams, club member and representative of the Improvement Association.

The debt was owed Polen for grading of the land improved when obtained by the association several years ago.

Mayor Leishman announced plans are complete for the second annual Ruritan summer festival July 21-23, from which proceeds will be used for maintenance and improvement of the field, along with other club projects. Money from the first festival was used to purchase the field.

A parade at 7 p. m. will launch the festival July 21, forming at the township house at 6:45. Little League games will be played at 6 p. m. July 22 and 23. Rides, games and refreshments will be available.

Leishman is general chairman, and Bettis is parade marshal.

Westinghouse To Make, Man Airborne TV Educational Unit

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Westinghouse Corp. has been awarded a $2,200,000 contract to equip and man two aircraft which will launch the world's first airborne educational TV system.

The "Stratovision" technique developed by Westinghouse enables television signals to be transmitted from high-flying airplanes. It will be used to make educational programs available to millions of students in a six-state midwest area.

Westinghouse's air arm division here will assume technical responsibility for the system under the two-year contract announced today. It will supply the necessary equipment, install it in two DC-6 planes and furnish skilled personnel to operate it.

The educational television program was announced last October by the Midwest Council on Airborne Television Instruction. The council is being assisted by the Purdue Research Foundation and Purdue is being assisted by the Purdue Research Foundation and Purdue University, where the instructional courses will be prepared.

The system, scheduled to get under way on a trial basis next January, will beam programs to all or parts of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin.

A plane will circle at about 23,000 feet above Montpelier, Ind. and broadcast signals to schools within a radius of 150-200 miles. Initial programs will be transmitted from tapes, but future modifications are expected to permit the relay of live programs received from the ground.

Methodist Conference Slates Discussion About Integration

CLEVELAND (AP)—Efforts to abolish the all-Negro Central Jurisdictional Conference of the Methodist Church through integration will be discussed at the five-day conference session opening here today.

The 10-million-member Methodist church is divided into five area jurisdictions and a sixth jurisdiction for Negro churches. The latter has a membership of 366,888.

In recent years efforts have been made to transfer congregations and annual conferences across jurisdictional lines to further integration in the church's administration.

Bishop Mattew J. Clair of St. Louis, the host bishop, said in an interview Tuesday that while a number of churchmen are in favor of transferring Negro and white congregations and conferences across jurisdictional lines, "many of us feel reluctant to leave our brothers in the South, where the fight is even greater for status."

He said that through their struggle over the years Negroes have developed indigenous leadership and have achieved a status they do not want to lose. He said he was not thinking in terms of the office of bishop, "but there must be opportunity among our lay folks who have talent and ability.

"The thing we're after in the Methodist Church will come when the folks at the grass roots change their attitude so that in all relationships they see people as individuals."

Will Leaves $155,000 To Salem Institutions

SALEM — A $75,000 gift for Salem City Hospital and $50,000 to the First United Presbyterian Church were among five public bequests made by the late Mrs. Mary Anderson Dunn, longtime civic and charity leader, in her will which has been filed in Probate Court.

Mrs. Dunn, who died June 30 at 81, was the widow of William H. Dunn who headed a number of coal firms in this area. She also left $10,000 each to the Salem Public Library Memorial Fund, Salem High School Scholarship Fund and Salem Home for Aged Women.

She also left $25,000 to four nieces and npehews and $50,000 to one relative of her husband and $25,000 to three others.

Public Responds In Case Of 'Sleeping Beauties'

CLEVELAND (AP)—Touched by the plight of two "sleeping beauty" sisters, a sympathetic public has poured gifts, suggestions and offers of help to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent N. Frantantonio.

The two girls—Bernadette, 3, and Venita, 5—both are captives of a mysterious malady of slumber. A diagnosis of the illness that sent Vanita into a coma Sunday is expected from doctors at Mount Sinai Hospital by the end of the week.

"I'm so afraid time may run out before they find out what the trouble is and what to do about it," said Mrs. Frantantonio. "They tell me that the tests take time. But time means so much to us now."

Bernadette has been under the strange spell since last fall, with only occasional moments of wakefulness. She is believed victim of some unknown progressive brain atrophy.

Physicians are unable to say whether the two ailments are related. They have assured the Frantantonio family that the "sleeping beauty" sickness is not contagious.

Examination of members of the family, including grandparents, discloses no similar ailments in the family history.

Catholic holy medals, books, toys, rocking chairs, special healing services, baby-sitting offers, transportation—these are some of the things that came from the public.

The strong public reaction, first started in June, came to a head Tuesday when it was reported that Venita had fallen victim to the same unknown foe as Bernadette.

Venita has not eaten by mouth since Saturday. She awakened for a moment Tuesday, but was so weak she could not stand. She is being fed intravenously. Bernadette gets up more often.

Mrs. Frantantonio, expecting her fifth child any day now, sits at the bedside of her two daughters. Her husband, a brewery company employe who now is on vacation, stays home with his youngest son, James, 4. Another son, Joseph, 7, is being cared for by a family which befriended the Frantantonios.

Work Backlog Grows For 2 Courts In Lisbon

The backlog of cases in the two Common Pleas Courts at Lisbon continues to grow, according to a report issued by Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey.

A total of 699 cases was pending at the beginning of June. Ninety-five more were filed during the month, making a total of 794, while only 52 cases were disposed of.

The courts started July with a total of 742 cases. Of those handled in June, 24 were tried by the court, two were before a jury, 11 were cognovit and default judgments and 15 were settled and dismissed.

The Court of Appeals gained two cases. There were four pending June 1 and two more were filed during the month, make a total of 6 now pending.

Fair's Premium Books Due Off Press July 20

Premium books for the Columbiana County Fair Aug. 23-27 are due off the press by next July 20, according to Galen Greenisen, Fair Board publicity chairman.

The books were due Friday but were delayed because of the final proof-reading. Greenisen said the bands which will play during the five-day event sponsored by the Columbiana County Agricultural Society will be picked in the next 10 days.

He said several buildings at the Fair Grounds are being repaired and improved. New roofing is being installed on the junior dairy barn. Half of the roof was fixed last year.

New drains are being installed in the steer barns, hog barn and the west side of the 4-H building. He said some painting also will be done by the time the fair opens.

Fumes Are Fatal

CLEVELAND (AP) — Warren Kopf, 36, assistant technical director at the Elco Lubricating Co. plant, stepped up to an 18-foot high steel tank Tuesday and took a whiff. He breathed in fumes of deadly sulfide gas, collapsed and died. The firm makes lubricants and additives.

Democratic Platform Aimed To Hit Racial Discrimination

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 1960 Democratic platform calls for speedy government action to end racial discrimination.

This is in contrast to the party's 1956 platform. Four years ago the party was willing to go more slowly. It rejected interference with what it called an orderly determination of civil rights complaints by the courts.

The 1960 platform cites recent sit-down strikes at lunch counters as reflecting dissatisfaction with the progress being made to end desegregation.

The 1956 declaration promised the party would continue its efforts to eradicate discrimination based on race, religion or color. This would take, it said, cooperative efforts on the part of individual citizens and state and local governments as well as federal action.

The new platform does this. It places emphasis on action by the legislative and administrative branches of the federal government as well as by the federal courts.

It said Congress has a duty to enact laws spelling out how individual rights should be protected, and the chief executive has a duty to enforce those laws by means of legal as well as moral measures.

Wellsville Slates Homecoming Fete In Mid-September

The Wellsville volunteer fire department announced today it will hold a homecoming celebration, after all.

The event has been scheduled for Sept. 12-17. The homecoming usually is held in July, but the fete was left up in the air when the department lost its carnival contract.

Arrangements were made Tuesday with the Deggeller Amusement Co. of Florida to present a show during the week at Central Park.

Previously, the department had a standing contract for 16 years with the Gooding Amusement Co. But Gooding would not appear because of the close proximity with other carnivals appearing in the area this month and no other dates were open.

Jack Phillips again will serve as homecoming chairman. Aside from the carnival, the firemen said the usual events will be held, including prizes for children.

A parade will be arranged sometime during the week. Working committees and other details will be announced later, Phillips said.

St. Clair Fund Hearing Is Set

A tentative budget, including a proposed police protection levy and a grant for a zoning program, was aired by St. Clair Township trustees at a meeting Monday night.

The budget of $42,250, up some $5,000 from the current operating budget, is slated for a public hearing Monday night.

It includes a general fund of $14,150, with $4,000 which would be collected if a proposed 1-mill levy for police protection is approved by voters in November.

Tentatively added to the budget is $1,000 for zoning, as trustees are considering re-appointing a zoning commission and later submitted a zoning levy to voters, possibly next year.

The road fund was set at $15,800, plus $4,500 anticipated from motor vehicle licenses fees and $7,600 from gasoline tax revenue.

Ray Brammer of the Building Highway Equipment Co. of Canton discussed snow plows and trustees agreed to attend a demonstration of a V-type attachment at Canton Saturday.

Trustees are contemplating purchase of a V-type plow for the township grader for use in areas where the straight angle type attachment — of which the township has one for each of the three trucks — is unsuitable.

Hans Hacker of Glenmoor submitted an application for appointment as police constable.

Catholic Youth Council To Arrange Installation

The committee is comprised of Patricia Cohara, Susan Shone, Regis Schulte, Anthony Nutz, Jerry Tomec, Shirley Joseph, Stephen Trbovich and Robert Dominici. A picnic will be a highlight of the installation meeting in early August.

The officers are: Danny Orlando, president; Ronald Haram, vice president; Elaine Vargo, treasurer, and Beatrice Marciniak, secretary.

High Court To Decide Bond In West Virginia Theft Case

CHARLESTON (AP)—The State Supreme Court has been brought into the Department of Motor Vehicles theft case. It is going to decide how much bond Earl Mathews should have to put up.

Mathews is the 32-year-old unemployed bus driver from Marmet who admitted taking more than $350,000 in cash by breaking into the department's vault June 19-20.

The man has been in jail or with the police since his arrest last Friday. The $25,000 bail set for him by Kanawha Intermediate Court is more than he can raise. He would have to come up with $1,500 in cash, since the rate of Charleston bondsmen is $60 per $1,000 of bond.

His lawyer, Stanley E. Preiser, has called the $25,000 excessive. His argument is that the Constitution provides the amount of bail should not be unreasonably high. For most breaking and entering charges it runs from $1,000 to $2,500.

The Supreme Court Tuesday agreed to take up the matter. The time will be tomorrow at 10 a.m.

Meanwhile, Preiser is refusing to let the State Police put Mathews to a lie detector test. He will not agree to it until the man is given his freedom before trial.

The Supreme Court split three ways in granting the hearing. Judge Leslie E. Given said he would have refused one. Judge Thornton G. Berry Jr. said he would have ordered the bail reduced to $5,000.

Man Asks Probation

City Requires More Income, Official Says

Additional revenue will be needed by the city next year if present operating levels are to be maintained, City Auditor Lawrence C. Applegate warned today.

"There is no reason to believe the $50 monthly increases for department heads and the 5 per cent increase for appointed personnel (which took effect Jan. 1) can be maintained next year unless department appropriations are severely slashed," Applegate said.

The auditor said the lack of funds "is not due to reckless spending by the present administration, but because funds available to the former administration, chiefly from the city income tax, will not be available."

Applegate pointed out the cost of materials and maintenance of the city's motorized equipment has increased, along with the cost of living. The rising cost for materials and maintenance will be reflected when department heads submit their appropriation requests for 1961, he declared.

"We trust the money will be available to them in order that they can do the job expected of them by the public," he commented.

The result of lowered employment in the county is reflected in the apportionment of tax monies to the various cities and villages, Applegate said.

"A well-employed community is a happy and prosperous one and it is believed the citizens of every normal city will agree they desire good, well-lighted streets, along with other items that make for a desirable place to live," he said.

"If they have steady employment, they do not object to additional taxes if they can see where their money is being spent. When new taxes are required the people will consent to the idea if it is properly presented," the auditor concluded.

400 Called Back

More Delegates Due

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Late arrivals are expected to increase attendance to nearly 4,000 at the North American Christian Convention in progress here. The four-day program, which opened Tuesday, is for ministers, Bible school teachers and laymen of the Church of Christ, known also as "Disciples of Christ." Christian education is being emphasized in workshops, demonstrations and speeches.

Wheat Quotas Mailed

BEAVER — Official notices of farm allotments for the 1961 wheat crop are being mailed to farmers this week, according to G. M. Most differ only slightly from the 1960 allotments since the national allotment remains at the minimum of 55 million acres, he explained.

Photos In Paper Lead To Finding Of Missing Girls

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Photographs in a Pittsburgh newspaper have led to the finding of two missing Pittsburgh girls.

Kathleen Birch of Homestead and Ellen Brotherton of Munhall, both 17, had been missing from their homes since June 1.

Reporter Jack Lewis of the Youngstown Vindicator saw the photographs in the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and Sun-Telegraph. The girls were living in the same boarding house where he stays. He notified juvenile authorities and the girls were picked up Tuesday.

Miss Birch was picked up at a drug store where she was working as a waitress. Miss Brotherton was found at a plant office while taking a test to get a job.

James Flaute, of the Youngstown Juvenile Bureau, said the girls came directly to Youngstown after leaving home. The girls both will be returned to their homes, he said.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: We know a couple whom we consider close friends. They are intelligent, good company and well-respected in the community. My wife admires them both and this has led to a family argument.

These persons consider themselves ultra modern and highly sophisticated. They have two teenage children, a boy 15 and a girl 17. The parents tell risque jokes and use profanity (and worse) in the presence of their children.

The other evening Mrs. —— told a story that had some pretty high voltage language. Their children were there and so was our 16-year-old son.

When the kids left I told Mrs. —— I thought her joke was unsuitable for the kids. She replied, "Don't be so naive. The kids know as much as we do. I believe in treating them as adults."

Her husband backed her up and my wife agreed. The odds were 3-1 and I lost. How about it?—STANDING ALONE.

Dear Standing: Hold the bets. The odds just changed. I'm with you.

I believe in treating teen-agers like adults, too, but using profanity and telling off-color jokes in their presence is not "treating them like adults" -- it merely confuses them.

Children look up to parents as idols and models. As time goes on the idol totters a little and the model tarnishes. This is inevitable because the childhood concept of mother and father is perfection—and nobody is perfect.

No matter how much kids know about life they neither expect nor want their parents to operate on the level you describe. It does not flatter teen-agers—it offends them.

And Contents Noted

Dear Ann: If you were in my place, what would you say? A certain woman in our club always serves milk instead of cream. We all know it's milk. Should we say "Please pass the milk?" Or, should we let her think she's putting one over and say "Please pass the c r e a m?" Thank you.—HER FRIENDS.

-:-

Dear Friends: Now this is a problem of earth-shattering importance!

Maybe the considerate hostess is serving milk instead of cream because you dames are too heavy and she's politely helping you count your calories.

Why not say, "Please pass the pitcher" — and let it go at that?

So What's New?

Dear Ann: I'm a boy 17 who has never had much trouble socially. Whenever I wanted to go with a girl I went with her and that's all there was to it.

Four months ago a new chick moved to town and I liked her looks from the minute I saw her. I've taken her out 16 times and have not been able to get even a goodnight kiss out of her.

I've never asked her for a reason, because I feel if, after 16 dates, a girl has any feeling for a boy she would not have to be talked into anything. She w o u l d want to kiss him goodnight.

Please don't misunderstand. I don't want to make an evening of pawing and necking. I just think after all these dates a kiss is not out of order.

Shall I have a talk with her or just break off?—MR. DO LITTLE.

Dear Mr. Do Little: I'll reply to your question by playing back part of your own letter: "If, after 16 dates, a girl has any feeling for a boy she would not have to be asked. She would want to kiss him goodnight."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mother Smothers Son, Tries To Kill Herself

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 40-year-old woman was reported in good condition at Euclid-Glenville Hospital today following an attempt to commit suicide after she smothered her 22-month-old son.

Police of suburban Euclid said Mrs. Americo Federici smothered her son, Richard, with a large plastic sheet Tuesday. She then slashed her wrists lightly with a razor blade and turned on the gas jets of the kitchen stove in an attempt to kill herself, they added.

Federici, a machinist, found his wife, Ada, and son on the kitchen floor when he returned home from work. He said he had talked to his wife by telephone during the day and got no indication anything was wrong.

Federici and his wife were married in Italy three years ago.

Lisbon School Fund Cleared; Coach Named

LISBON — The 1961 budget of $505,763 — down $224 from the 1960 budget of $505,987 — was given approval Monday night by the Village Board of Education, which also named two teachers, one an assistant coach.

A breakdown shows the new budget's estimated receipts, comparing them with 1960 totals in parenthesis:

General property tax, $210,945 ($211,115); school foundation, $283,280 ($265,500); state aid, $1,900 ($3,017); foreign tuition, $7,200 ($7,200) and miscellaneous, $1,800 ($1,430).

Main disbursements are: administration, $22,860; instruction, $307,000; transportation, $19,950; operation and maintenance, $62,000; contribution to retirement fund, $38,750, and school cafeteria, $26,500.

Two teachers were hired. George McFarland, a recent graduate of Clarion State College, was hired to replace Andrew Timko, social studies and drivers' training teacher. He has a major in social studies and a minor in English. He also will assist in football and basketball coaching. His home is Greensburg, Pa.

Mrs. Betty Jean Lepley, 444 E. Chestnut St., will teach social studies in the high school mornings only. She is a graduate of Indiana State College with a major in home economics and minor in science. She has been substituting in the local school system for a number of years.

Wilfred Patterson was placed on contract for maintenance service in local schools. He has been working on an hourly rate.

The board authorized recapping of 16 bus tires and purchase of one new tire from the Lisbon Tire Service at an estimated cost of $607.

A local taxi company will pick up three students on Route 30 south of Freeman Rd. at a cost of $2.50 a day for two trips. Supt. Loren Early said that a school bus cannot make the run due to the narrow road.

Two basketball backboards from the high school were given to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for erection near the Sadie VanFossan Memorial Swimming Pool. Lisbon got new glass backboards for its gymnasium and the Jaycees requested the old ones for their site near the pool.

Mrs. Mary Pettit resigned as instructor for the high school paper, "The Student Voice." Unless another teacher accepts the position, which pays $300 a year extra, the school will not have a paper next term. She will continue to teach fifth grade at McKinley School.

The next regular meeting was set tentatively for Tuesday, Aug. 9, at 8:30 p. m.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ohio's Democratic national committeewoman—Mrs. Helen T. Gunsett of Van Wert—is limping as the result of a fall at the party's national convention. Mrs. Gunsett, who injured her left knee when she stepped off a curb outside the arena, says she will continue her activities.

The Circus Museum at Barboo, Wis., once was the site of the winter headquarters for the Ringling Brothers Circus.

CAMP MEETING LEADERS. Looking over programs for future meetings are four leaders of the 39th annual camp meeting of the Rochester District of the Free Methodist Church, which got under way last week on Anderson Blvd. and will continue through Sunday. From left, they are: The Rev. E. W. Franklin, children's worker; Mrs. Mona McKeown, Sunday School Institute speaker; the Rev. R. L. Page, district superintendent, and the Rev. S. R. Magill, camp evangelist. Vesper services for children, an added feature in the camp program, are held nightly at 6:30 by Rev. Franklin. About 700 attended the services Tuesday night to hear Rev. Magill. He will speak again tonight at 7:30.

Deadline Set Today To Seek Vote On Meters At Wellsville

Today is the deadline for filing a petition calling for a referendum on legislation to install parking meters on a trial basis in Wellsville.

The petitions were being circulated, but the meter opponents got off to a late start, as they did not file a certified copy of the legislation with Auditor Edgar Davidson — one of the stipulations under the law — until two weeks ago.

Council adopted the legislation at a special meeting June 13. Previous legislation adopted by Council was declared void because of a technicality. The ordinance was presented for three separate readings, but the wording was changed on the third. Technically this meant the entire ordinance was changed and therefore had passed only one reading. The special meeting then was called to rectify the situation.

If the referendum petitions are filed today, all action on the ordinance will be halted automatically until the issue is decided by a vote of the people at the Nov. 8 election. Meters have been defeated in two previous votes.

Opponents have 30 days from the time the legislation is enacted to file for the referendum.

William Fogo of Clark Ave. now is the apparent leader of the opposition. Atty. Raymond Knepper, a staunch opponent of meters, has not been able to work because of recent heart attacks.

If the petitions are filed, they must be held by the auditor for 10 days for public inspection. The validity of each name also must be checked. About 250 signatures are needed, representing 10 per cent of the vote cast at the last gubernatorial election.

The auditor has until 90 days prior to the Nov. 8 general election in which to certify the petitions to the Columbiana County Election Board.

Law, Ford Duel In 2nd All-Star Game Today At New York

Frick Plans Some Action Over Power

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball commissioner Ford Frick was expected to take some action today in the strange case of Vic Power, the reluctant Indian.

Power, a Cleveland first baseman, disappeared from the bench in Kansas City in the first All-Star game Monday, and sent word that he was ill when Manager Al Lopez decided to use him in mid-game.

"I haven't been able to reach everybody concerned yet," said Frick, obviously referring to Power. "There is no formal inquiry, but I am in the process of getting the facts together."

Power made himself unavailable to all concerned, but Lopez was on hand and had plenty to say.

"I can't understand him," he said. "He was late getting to the game and told me he had dizzy spells during the night. It makes you wonder about the difference of attitude in the players, about their own desires of wanting to win.

"I might point out that Ted Williams was used as a pinch hitter in the second and Mickey Mantle was taken out in the sixth. They're both pretty good country players and they managed to stay until the end to cheer the other guys on."

Carries Nationals' Hopes.

★ ★ ★ Nationals After Sweep In Classic ★ ★ ★

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite their victory in Kansas City Monday and their superior punch in the starting lineup, the National League was no more than even money today to sweep the two-game All-Star set against the physically handicapped American Leaguers.

A crowd of some 45,000 was expected to see Pittsburgh right-hander Vernon Law, 11-4, and New York left-hander Whitey Ford, 5-5, face each other on the mound in the 29th midsummer game and the first in Yankee Stadium since 1939. The Americans, despite their loss two days ago, still lead the series, 16 to 12, but the Nationals have taken eight of the last 12.

AL Manager Al Lopez and NL pilot Walter Alston have decided to stick to the same hitting orders that faced each other in the 100-degree heat in Kansas City's Municipal Stadium Monday.

Lopez, the Chicago White Sox skipper, once again will have the four Yankee sluggers — Roger Maris, Mickey Mantle, Bill Skowron and Yogi Berra—right in the middle where the strength is supposed to be. The quartet didn't distinguish itself in KC, managing only a single by Skowron and two walks by the crippled Mantle in 10 total appearances.

Mantle, still nursing a sore leg as a result of being hit by a pitch thrown by Washington's Pedro Ramos last week, is handicapped in the field and on the bases. Detroit's Al Kaline, his understudy in center field, also is bothered by a sore leg.

Ronnie Hansen, Baltimore's rookie shortstop, and Pete Runnels, Boston's veteran second baseman, both reported feeling better after suffering ill effects from the intense Kansas City heat.

Frank Malzone, Boston's brilliant third baseman, suffered blistered feet as a result of the scorching terrain in Municipal Stadium.

The temperature was expected to be about 20 degrees cooler for today's game, scheduled to start at 12 noon with network radio and television coverage.

Tremendously impressed by the one-hit pitching of Bob Friend in his three-inning stint against the American Leaguers Monday, Alston decided to go with another Pittsburgh right-hander today. Law, 30, was equally effective in the first tilt, snuffing out a ninth inning rally. Coming to the assistance of Bob Buhl with two runners on base and only one out, he disposed of the next two batters with seven pitches. It was Law's only appearance in all-star competition.

Ford, on the other hand, is an All-Star veteran, but his record in these games is unglittering, to say the least. In six innings, he has been clipped for 12 hits and nine runs for an 0-1 record. He started in 1954, relieved in 1955 and 1956, and lost in relief last year.

Majors Must Go Together To Expand

NEW YORK (AP) —The American League, openly in favor of expanding, admitted today it cannot do anything about increasing its eight-team set-up without the full cooperation of the National League.

A spokesman for the baseball's junior circuit, in explaining why his league did not "officially" discuss expansion at Tuesday's four-hour meeting here, said:

"What's the use? It would be foolish to come to a decision to expand and then find out the National League once again is against it.

"At one time we thought we could go it alone. But after giving it a great deal of thought, and exploring all kinds of possibilities, we realized it would be unwieldy, unfeasible and unwise to do it.

"One league simply cannot expand without the other."

He added:

"We in our league are anxiously awaiting the outcome of the National League meeting in Chicago next Monday. I personally have reason to believe they (the National League) are less opposed to it than they were a year ago. As a matter of fact, I have reason to believe that Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and San Francisco, the three cities strongly opposed to expansion, may have had a change of heart."

Utah Golfer Leads In Paris Tourney

PARIS (AP) — Bill Johnston of Provo, Utah, surprise leader in the French Open golf championship, lives what he considers the ideal existence for a golf professional — bound to neither the tour nor a club.

"When I get restless around the club, I go on the tour, with the permission of my club members," he said today. "Then, when I get tired of the tour I go back to the club. You can't beat that."

Johnston is pro at the Timpanogoes Golf Club in Provo, Utah.

After playing in the centenary British Open at St. Andrews, where he finished respectably at 291, he came to Paris and proceeded to take over honors for the first two rounds.

The final 36 holes are scheduled today, and, despite the close packaging of the field, there is a strong feeling the 36-year-old American pro may go all the way.

He shot rounds of 66 and 70 Tuesday over the par 72 St. Cloud course for a total of 136, which put him one shot ahead of long-hitting Leopoldo Ruiz of Argentina, who had 67-70.

Mays, Gentile Hope History Repeats Again

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — History doesn't always repeat itself, but Jim Gentile of the Baltimore Orioles and Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants are hopeful that it does by the end of the 1960 baseball season.

Gentile and Mays are the major league batting leaders at the All-Star break, Gentile topping the American League with a .328 average and Mays pacing the National loop at .353.

Ordinarily you'd expect them both to be looking ahead to the second half of the campaign. At the same time, however, you can't blame them for looking back at the batting races of last season.

At the first All-Star game break a year ago Harvey Kuenn, then of Detroit but now with Cleveland, and Hank Aaron of Milwaukee were leading their leagues in batting.

Kuenn was hitting .356, and he went on to win the American League title with .353. Aaron's .370 mark was high at the midseason break, and he finished in front of the National League batsmen at .355.

But it doesn't always work out that way. In 1958, for instance, Nellie Fox of the White Sox and Stan Musial of the Cards were the batting front-runners at All-Star times. When the season ended, however, Ted Williams and Richie Ashburn were wearing the crowns.

If Gentile goes on to win the championship, he will become the first rookie ever to lead the American League in batting. The last National League freshman to garner batting laurels was Pete Reiser of the 1941 Dodgers.

Mays is seeking his second hitting title, having won in 1954 with a .345 average.

Jersey City Welcome In IL Is 4-0 Blank

By The Associated Press

Herb Moford pulled the welcome mat from under the New Jersey City entry in the International Baseball League Tuesday night. He shut them out with only one hit as his Miami Marlins took a 4-0 decision over the erstwhile Havana Sugar Kings.

Pompeyo Davalillo's infield single in the second inning was the only JC hit.

Columbus snapped a four-game losing string with a 4-3 victory over Richmond while Toronto defeated Buffalo 7-4 to push its first place margin to 9½ games ahead of the second-place Bisons. Rochester defeated Montreal 6-1 in a five-inning, rain shortened first game of a doubleheader. The second game was postponed.

Columbus got four unearned runs to beat Billy Short, whose teammates committed three errors. Jim Pisoni had four hits in as many at bats for the Vees, including two solo home runs. But his error on a fly ball let in two Columbus runs in the first inning.

Nino Escalera had three hits for the Jets while Clarence Buheller drove in two runs. Bennie Daniels allowed Pisoni's teammates only two hits among them as he won his third complete game triumph in a row since Pittsburgh sent him down.

Toronto's Al Cicotte, allowing Buffalo 12 hits, stranded 14 Bisons.

Rochester's Billy Harrell hit a grand slam home run.

Texans Grab 3 Of 4 Top Qualifying Spots

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Texans grabbed three of the top four qualifying spots in the Trans-Mississippi Men's Golf Tournament Tuesday with John Garrett, former Rice University star from Houston, firing a 70-66—136 for the medal.

Charles Coody of Stamford, Tex., matched Garrett's 4-under-par 66 Tuesday and wound up a stroke back at 137. Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., former British Amateur winner, had a 69-69—138 and Jack Cupit of Longview, Tex., broke even with par at 71-69—140.

Paret Scores KO Over Hart

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Benny (Kid) Paret is looking for new worlds to conquer, but not necessarily at the risk of his still glittering welterweight crown.

The Cuban buzz saw knocked out Garnet (Sugar) Hart of Philadelphia Tuesday night in the sixth round of their scheduled 10-round overweight bout. Immediately his manager, Manuel Alfaro, began mentioning names of champion or ex-champion middleweights as an opponent for his tiger.

"We're interested in Ray Robinson, Gene Fullmer, Paul Pender or Carmen Basilio as an opponent," he said, adding: "In an overweight match, of course."

Alfaro said Paret would go to Puerto Rico for a two-month rest and mentioned Paret would defend his title against Frederico Thompson in the Garden Oct. 15.

It was a heartbreaking defeat for Hart, who had dreams of stopping the Cuban and then demanding a title match. He came in at 153¼ to 152¾ for Paret.

He was behind on the cards of both judges and the referee when the end came, but he made it close in every round of a slugging match which saw the two stand toe to toe in vicious exchanges. Paret kept in close and usually kept Hart from unlimbering his big guns.

When Hart did connect, Paret came back with redoubled fury, and Hart, who had knocked out 22 of his previous opponents, was not encouraged by this habit.

The end came abruptly. Paret stepped back from a quick exchange and shot over an overhand right which caught the Philadelphian on the button. He went down and didn't quite make it by the time Referee Mark Conn finished the count.

Cards Pitcher Hurt In Highway Accident

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) —Robert John Duliba, St. Louis Cardinals pitcher, was injured seriously Tuesday night in a highway accident that killed three persons. Four were injured.

Killed were Mrs. Robert Haukap, 24, Columbia; her son, Timothy, 9 months, and Anna Marie Wilga, 9 months, daughter of Mrs. Sophie Wilga, St. Ann, Mo.

Duliba, 25, of Glen Lyon, Pa., and his wife were driving to the wedding of teammate Ray Sadecki, who was to be married today in Kansas City, Kan.

Duliba suffered head injuries and possible internal injuries. He was in dangerous condition. His wife was in good condition.

Slumping Giants Seek Help From Coast Star

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An early harvest from the farm system, pitcher Juan Marichal, joins San Francisco Friday in a move to strengthen the skidding Giants.

The move marks the first player change for Tom Sheehan since he took over as manager June 18. He can only hope the Pacific Coast League strikeout king brings the electrifying change the addition of Willie McCovey did a year ago.

McCovey broke into the Giants lineup July 30 and blasted two triples and two singles. After seven games he had 14 hits in 30 times at bat and finished with .354 in 52 games.

With this year's Giants, including McCovey, in a big slump and tied for fourth place, the call went out for Marichal.

Juan, 21, has had only two full seasons in the minors. In 1958, he won 21 and lost 8 for Michigan City of the class D Midwest League. He also won two playoff games.

Last year, the youngster was 18-13 with the pennant-winning Springfield team in the class A Eastern League. Again he pitched two playoff victories. He also led the league with a 2.39 earned-run average.

Off to a blazing start with Tacoma this year, he compiled a 5-0 record through May 10. Since then he has won six while losing five for an overall 11-5 mark and a 3.11 ERA.

Lindsay Of Detroit Retires From Hockey

DETROIT (AP) — Ted Lindsay is a guy who not only wants to be remembered as a fellow who gave his all but also gave enough. Lindsay apparently realized Tuesday that he no longer could give enough and retired from the National Hockey League after 16 seasons — 13 with the Detroit Red Wings, and the last three with the Chicago Black Hawks.

The fiery star must have felt a premonition of his coming retirement last season when he confided: "Either I'm slowing up or these players are getting faster."

Lindsay, who will be 35 before the month is out, was one of the game's fiercest competitors.

Rosburg Eyes Comeback In Western Open

DETROIT (AP) — Injuries, illness and inactivity have made pudgy Bob Rosburg almost an unknown, relatively speaking, on the 1960 professional golf tour.

The defending PGA champion has had a hand injury, a stomach disorder and a run of so-so golf—and has made only $8,000 on the tour this year. His best showing was a tie for third place in the New Orleans Open and a tie for fourth in the Memphis event.

Rosburg won the PGA tournament last year at Minneapolis and will defend his crown next week at Akron, Ohio. His 1959 earnings exceeded $30,000.

Rosburg is in Detroit for the Western Open, and it might not be a bad bet to wager that he'll be a stronger contender.

Rosburg did not have to qualify for the Western, which begins Thursday and runs through Sunday with $5,000 top price money in the $25,000 kitty.

But 125 others had to battle it out Tuesday for 60 places over Western's 6,800-yard course with its 36-36—72 par.

Coca-Cola Rally Nips Elks, 10-9

Coca-Cola came racing from behind with three runs in the final inning to nip the Elks, 10-9, Tuesday in a lone Minor League tilt.

Larry Jackson and Tom Standley paced Coca-Cola with two hits each.

Tom Scott, the losing pitcher, dropped a tough one. He gave up only six hits and struck out 13. Ed Carpenter was the winner.

B. Flint and Paul Pattison with three hits each topped the losers at the plate.

Midland 'Cleaned,' 4-2

Patterson-Wetzel Cleaners handed Midland CIO a 4-2 setback in a City League softball contest Tuesday. Howard Wilson was the winning hurler while Rich Jackson singled and tripled for the winners.

Ex-Ohio State Gridder Tops Buckeye Amateurs

By FRITZ HOWELL

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A red-hot fight with 63 players within seven strokes of the lead was on today for medal honors in the 54th Ohio Amateur golf championship's 36-hole qualifier.

Out front with a one-under-par 71 for Zanesville Country Club's 7,020 - yard course was Pandel Savic of Columbus, the long hitter who quarterbacked Ohio State to a 17-14 victory in the 1950 Rose Bowl. He birdied four of the last six holes to take the lead.

On his heels as the field of 200-plus went in today's second 18 holes were some tourney-tested contestants. The 63 low scorers for the two-day qualifier will join defending champion Tony Blom of Cincinnati in match play starting Thursday and ending Sunday.

When Bob Rankin of Zanesville won here in 1955, a score of 157 was good enough for a match-play berth. The same could be true this time as 63 players shot 78 or better Tuesday making the probable cut-off point around 156.

A stroke back of Savic were Rankin and Don Blancett of Zanesville and Columbusites Dan Carmichael and Don Albert, the latter a one-time Big Ten champion from Purdue. Another stroke away at 73 were Jack Zimmerman of Dayton, former state public links champion and runnerup to Rankin in 1955; Robert Hoag of Columbus, Mike Kosar of Cuyahoga Falls, Don Gruber of Cincinnati and Dr. Frank Bellino of Youngstown.

Kermit Blosser, Ohio University golf coach, was in a five-way tie at 75. Dr. Frank Duccilli of Cincinnati, 1959 medalist, settled for a 78.

The opening round came up with the usual oddities.

Frank Barcu of Columbus snared a birdie and a par on the 12th hole where his tee shot killed a flying bird but he got his par three. William Podlogar, Cleveland's metropolitan match play champion, scored a resounding 10 on one hole for the day's record. Gary Jensen of Columbus closed with three straight birdies and Michael Montolack of Cleveland started with three but each finished with 77 when unable to better par along the rest of the route.

Don Gill of Cincinnati, 1958 state senior champion and the tourney's eldest, scored a neat 76 although twice hitting his ball out of bounds.

The Ohio Golf Association at its annual meeting Tuesday night named Arthur Hudnutt of Elyria to the board of governors; awarded the 1961 amateur tournament to Toledo Inverness for the second week in July; sent the 1961 preseniors championship to Mansfield for the fourth week in June, and voted to give future state junior second placers a $200 college scholarship in addition to the $400 given the winner.

Horse Placed Second After Setting Mark

How can a horse finish second and still set a new track record? It happened Tuesday at Waterford Park before a Ladies' Day crowd of 3,158.

Persian Princess, who walked into the starting gates as a 25-1 shot in the seventh race, cracked the Waterford Park record for seven furlongs on the turf. She covered the distance in 1:22.1 to snap the old mark of 1:22 3-5 held by Osage Chief, Merecido and Mike's Profit.

The 1:22.1 is also only one-tenth of a second off the world's record set several weeks ago at Belmont Park.

A foul claim for bumping on the stretch turn by Clarence C. Smith aboard Nothing Blue, which placed second, was allowed and Persian Princess was dropped into second place with Nothing Blue the official winner.

Vincent Tartaglia was aboard Persian Princess which paid $19.40 and $9.60 to place. Nothing Blue returned $8.40, $5.80 and $4.60.

The riding of Anthony Grogan also featured Tuesday's program at Waterford. Grogan brought three consecutive mounts to the winner's circle in the third, fourth and fifth events.

Public Links Champion Qualifies For Defense

HONOLULU (AP) — Lanky Bill Wright of Seattle, the 1959 Public Links champ, qualified to defend his title Tuesday — but it took him 19 holes.

Sixty-four golfers qualified for match play today. Wright, with 156 for the 36 qualifying holes, was tied with 10 others for the final eight match-play berths.

The 23-year-old Wright and four others made it on the first extra hole with a par four. The last three berths were filled on the next hole, as darkness settled over the Ala Wai course near Waikiki.

"Now that I am in," Wright said, "I feel I have as good a chance as anyone. Medal play is different from match play. Don't forget that I qualified last year with a 149, one stroke under the cutoff figure."

Medal honors for the 36 qualifying holes were divided among three 146 shooters: Harlan (Pinky) Stevenson, 21, a student from Long Beach, Calif.; Owen Douglass Jr., a Honolulu businessman who is the Hawaian Open champ; and Richard Hopwood, a Phoenix, Ariz., insurance executive.

Stevenson paced the three-man team from Pasadena, Calif., to the Harding Cup trophy with an aggregate of 453. With Pinky's 146 were Dick Clover's 150 and Ray Swedo's 157.

Three more games are set for Sunday at 1 p. m., 3 p. m. and 6 p. m. The final game Sunday at 6 pits favored Youngwood, Pa., of near Greensburg, against Beaver Falls.

Burbicks Outhit Rival For 7-4 Pony Loop Win

Burbicks outhit rival Woodbine, 10-5, and took advantage of six errors to stamp out a 7-4 victory Tuesday in the Pony League at Dopler Field.

A three-run second inning followed by two more tallies in the third clinched the victory for Burbicks which now stand at 3-3 for the second half.

Burns, Cline and Wilshaw led the Burbick nine at the plate. Burns stroked three safeties in four trips while Cline homered and singled and Wilshaw smacked a double and single.

Cline was also the pitching star, allowing five hits and fanning 12 batters. McComas was checked with the defeat.

Americans Nip Canada In Cup Match

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Lightning has struck twice for the Canadian pro-amateur golfers in the four-year-old International Cup series with the United States.

Tuesday for the second straight year, a U. S. amateur holed out with a sub-par performance in a sudden death playoff to nip the dominion delegation.

Ward Wettlaufer, host club champion, turned the trick on the 373-yard, par 4, first hole of the playoff when he tapped a three-foot putt for a one-under three.

Last year much the same happened when the Canadian and U.S. teams finished play in a six-point deadlock in Toronto.

Amateur Ed Meister's 15-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole provided the margin of victory for the States and ended Canada's two-year hold on the series.

Tuesday's event was sent into a playoff when Stan Leonard and Gary Cowan of the Canadians beat Wettlaufer and Dow Finsterwald 2 and 1 in the featured match.

Leonard captured unofficial medal honors with a 36-31—71 score over the tricky 6,581-yard course. Par is 36-36—72.

FIELD AND STREAM

By R. L. LIDE

When hay-making time rolls around there is no time to lose and the old saying "make hay while the sun shines" is a fact and not just a quotation.

The farmer has no time to try and rid the fields of rabbits, pheasants or fawns. Birds and animals often seek refuge in the hay field. Then the cutting bar comes along. Many birds and animals meet a tragic death or get their legs cut off, etc., something that cannot very well be helped.

RECENTLY, a mother skunk met a tragic end due to the cutting bar and left little baby skunks as orphans. The farmer took two of them to a friend he knew loved wild animals. Reluctantly, he accepted them and tried to get in touch with me, but I was out of town on vacation.

Later the farmer noticed two more of the babies wandering around aimlessly and proceded to place them in a box and called his animal loving friend to come out and get them, too.

I was reached by phone after coming home from a short vacation and in turn I was presented with Sweet Pea, Violet, Rose and Petunia, as they had been named. The names were suitable. The sex is not important.

UNFORTUNATELY, in this case, the law strictly reads that wild animals can be taken and possessed only during the open season for taking and possessing.

No one has the right to pick up protected wild animals this time of the year under any conditions. Otherwise there would be more baby raccoon, skunks, fawn, squirrels and all kinds of birds and animals taken under the pretense that they needed human assistance. So the hard and fast rule is to see that the laws are obeyed.

To release them would mean slow death by starvation. And yet I do not choose to become a "nursemaid" to baby skunks.

After a conference with the powers that be, the decision was reached to take them to the Akron zoo. It was also necessary to relieve them of their only weapon of defense since they would not have to shift for themselves in the future.

For "Pete's" sake, let wild babies alone. In case they might need human assistance the proper thing to do is call the game protector.

The first thing he will try to do will be to arrange for them to stay in the wilds where they belong. This might call for a little arranging, but it beats the daylight out of having someone ordered into court for violating the game laws.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A year ago when plans were approved for Candlestick Park, new home of the San Francisco Giants, the man who drew the blueprint inadvertently marked the third base line "1st base line" and the first base line "3rd base line." He was named to the All-Eastern Ohio All-Star team this year, received honorable mention last season and was named to the All-District Tournament team the past two years. HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Howard Bowyer had only two Hoosier longshots to drive Tuesday night, but he brought both home winners at Hamilton Raceway.

The Hoosier driver's first entry was Terry O., rated only 16-1, but the sidewheeler—owned by J. R. Jackson of Pleasantville, Ind.—beat a field of eight pacers in the sixth race.

In the eighth race Bowyer was driving Dr. Keller for a fellow townsman, Dr. Charles Armington of Anderson, Ind. Dr. Keller was a 14-1 choice, but romped home the winner and beat its own best time with a 2:06 4-5 mile.

In the featured handicap trot, the 2-1 favorite, Ralph Abbe, didn't look like much of a contender through most of the race, but won by half a length after a stretch burst. Ralph Abbe was sixth until the last eighth-mile pole when a brisk dash set up a 2:07 1-5 victory.

Coed Slayer Due Lie Test On 7 Murders

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police say they hope a lie detector test will tell whether a man held in connection with the strangulation of a coed is the "Bouncing Ball" killer wanted for seven other murders.

Detectives said Raymond W. Clemmons, 36, a San Quentin parolee and door-to-door Bible salesman, has admitted strangling Nina T. Thoeren, 19, with her scarlet capri pants Tuesday.

Her late father, Robert T. Thoeren, was an author of mystery books and screen plays including "Act of Murder" and "The Prowler."

Police said Clemmons told them he offered the attractive coed a ride and then told her: "Sure, I'm the Bouncing Ball killer. Look in the glove compartment. The ball is in there."

Seven other women have been strangled in Los Angeles in recent months. Police say a man seen calmly bouncing a rubber ball after killing an elderly woman, the latest of the other victims, may have killed them all.

The ball bouncer, like Clemmons, was a Negro.

Pretty Frozen Dessert Is Summer Favorite

Pot de creme, that delicate and delicious frozen dessert, usually served in individual cups, can be transformed into a favorite summer party specialty when made into a large layered frozen torte, to be sliced and served just like cake.

A short-cut for making the basic creamy mixture that is essentially a pot de creme can be achieved by using different flavors of prepared pudding and pie filling mix, to which egg yolks and whipped cream are added for extra richness.

Pot de Creme Frozen Torte

1 package butterscotch pudding and pie filling mix
1 cup sugar
1 tablespoon instant coffee
4½ cups milk
6 egg yolks
1 package chocolate pudding and pie filling mix
1 square unsweetened chocolate
1 package vanilla pudding and pie filling mix
1½ cups whipping cream
Walnuts, coarsely chopped

Combine butterscotch pudding mix, 1-3 cup sugar, the instant coffee, and 1½ cups milk in a saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture begins to thicken. Beat 2 egg yolks slightly. Add a little of the hot pudding and quickly stir to blend. Add to pudding in saucepan and cook until mixture comes to a full boil. Chill.

Then combine chocolate pudding mix, unsweetened chocolate, 1-3 cup sugar, and 1½ cups milk in saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture begins to thicken. Beat 2 egg yolks slightly. Add a little of the hot pudding and quickly stir to blend. Add to pudding in saucepan and cook until mixture comes to a full boil. Chill.

Combine vanilla pudding with remaining 1-3 cup sugar and 1½ cups milk. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture begins to thicken. Beat remaining 2 egg yolks slightly. Add a little of the hot pudding and quickly stir to blend. Add to pudding in saucepan and cook until mixture comes to a full boil. Chill.

Whip cream. Fold 1 cup of the whipped cream into each of the chilled puddings. Spoon chocolate pudding into a 9-inch spring-form pan. Add butterscotch pudding; then vanilla pudding. Freeze 5 hours or overnight. Prepare chocolate leaves. Remove sides of spring-form pan. Press walnuts onto sides of mold. Place chocolate leaves on top, as garnish. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Convention's Highlights

Democrats Start Fighting

By SAUL PETT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For awhile it looked like the Democrats were going to give us a coast-to-coast tranquilizer.

But Tuesday they began to act like Democrats. They began to fight.

The day started with a debate between candidates Lyndon B. Johnson and John F. Kennedy. They met in something less than mortal combat. The day ended at convention hall with Democratic delegates fighting over civil rights. It was almost like old times.

Johnson, the gray fox of Texas, invited Kennedy to debate the issues.

It proved to be a heart-warming meeting. There they were, Johnson and Kennedy, telling each other what great friends they were, two old Senate buddies, full of mutual admiration.

It was so moving you almost couldn't see them needle each other. But they did.

Kennedy wondered out loud about candidates who don't enter primaries, which Johnson didn't.

Johnson innocently remarked on the importance of a good Senate attendance record, which Kennedy hasn't had lately.

Meanwhile, back in the convention hall, the second session moved along with all the alacrity of a dying elephant. Speakers got the same rapt attention Americans usually reserve for TV commercials.

The delegates milled in the aisles. They clustered around TV men clustering around somebody on camera. They took pictures of each other posing with Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and other celebrities to impress the folks back home. They ogled Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford, who wandered around wearing buttons which said, "Beat Khrushchev."

Temporary Chairman Frank Church, the boy senator from Idaho, begged the delegates to clear the aisles. They didn't. He got mad and threatened to call the cops. But the aisles remained clogged as if it were dollar-day at Tiffany's.

But it was Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida, the permanent chairman, who had the roughest time holding or finding his audience. He stopped himself, pounded the gavel, and begged the delegates to alight somewhere.

Then he was upstaged by Eleanor Roosevelt. Her entrance brought a big roar while delegates turned their backs on Collins.

Mercifully, the governor was allowed to finish before Adlai E. Stevenson entered and received a huge, 20-minute ovation.

Adlai got off the best crack of the convention so far. After getting in and out of the crowd at the convention headquarters, he said, "I know who will be nominated—it will be the last survivor."

TV Viewers' Endurance Gets Test By Convention

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — These are times that try the souls of convention watchers before the home screen.

The second session of the Democratic National Convention tested their endurance. That endurance must have snapped for most viewers as the meet ground on for six hours, less nine minutes.

Plus which, all three networks went on the air an hour early to cover the Kennedy-Johnson debate.

Man, that's a lot of viewing.

A rapid calculator has come up with this observation: Air time for Tuesday's political show equaled the running time of "Gone With the Wind" and "Ben-Hur" placed end to end.

The end result for loyal viewers was numbness. Not just physical, but mental, too. Politics aside, there was simply too much talk for any human being to assimilate.

The best part of the show was in the first half hour. The TV cameras moved right in on the John-son-Kennedy exchange in the Biltmore ballroom and caught the nuances of this rare spontaneous event. Only one thing was missed on the home screen, the deep blush on Johnson as Kennedy finished his talk with gibes. None of the networks is televising in color.

Two rare moments were caught by the cameras at the Sports Arena. One was the entrance of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, which the TV viewers saw before convention Chairman Leroy Collins did.

The demonstration for Adlai E. Stevenson also was exciting. This was TV reporting in crack style. The cameras moved right in on the surging mob around Stevenson, giving a view that spectators in the arena couldn't get.

The rest of the evening was rugged going. It was a clever idea to pictorialize the platform with film clips, but the running time was too much. The Dixie assault on the civil rights plank produced a lot of oratory, some of it fiery, but no real drama.

2 Women Drivers Hurt In Oakmont Area Crash

Two women drivers received minor injuries in a collision on St. Clair Ave. Ext. in the Oakmont area Tuesday afternoon at 5:20, the State Highway Patrol at Lisbon reported.

A car driven by Patricia Peterson, 22, of New Waterford R. D. 1, headed north, stopped for traffic ahead, and was struck from behind by one operated by Carolyn Allen, 20, of McCoy Ave.

The New Waterford woman suffered a minor back injury, while the city driver received a cut of the inside lip, but neither received treatment, officers said. Mrs. Dennis Smith, 37, of 1110 Jennings Ave., passenger in the Peterson auto, was unhurt, the patrol reported.

The city woman was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Midland Group Learns Of Concession Profits

Concession stands operated July 4 by the Midland High School Band Boosters Club were reported a successful project at a meeting Tuesday night in the Steelworkers Hall.

Mrs. John Mueller, project chairman, gave the report. Proceeds will be used toward the corn roast Aug. 23 for band members at Brady's Run Park.

The band will go to Kennywood Park Aug. 25 to participate in the annual festival of bands, it was announced. Plans were made for a membership drive in September. A chairman will be appointed at the next meeting Aug. 9.

Mrs. Peter Vukas, president, presided.

Cosmic Beauty, Lazy F. Ranch's 2-year-old filly, was named for her sire Cosmic Bond and her dam Big Beauty.

5 U.S. Officers Killed, 1 Missing In Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army reported Tuesday that five officers were killed and one is missing in the crash of a light transport plane in the Panama Canal Zone.

The craft was en route from France Field to Howard Air Base in the zone Monday when the accident occurred. All the officers were members of the 2nd Battle Group of the 10th Infantry Regiment stationed at Ft. William D. Davis in the zone.

The dead were identified as Lt. Col. Harry C. Barnes, Warm Springs, Ga.; Maj. Sidney L. Davis, 6007 Lake St., Houston, Tex.; Maj. Frank J. Gabrhel, 3855 East Barnard Ave., Cudahy, Wis.; Maj. Cleston W. Gilpatrick, RFD 4, Concord, N. H.; and Capt. Manuel V. Brasil, 265 Williams St., Providence, R. I.

The name of the missing officer will be announced after his next of kin is notified, a spokesman said.

Salem Man Fined For Park Incident

LISBON — James L. Walker, 23, of Salem was fined $25 and costs Tuesday by County Judge James L. MacDonald for indecent exposure and using obscene and licentious language at Guilford Lake State Park.

He was cited by Roy Painter, constable of Hanover Township.

In traffic cases, David L. Drakulich, 23, of 130½ S. Market St., Lisbon, and Wilfred L. Carlisle, 21, of Lisbon R. D. 1, were fined $5 and costs each for speeding.

George A. Guzzo, 32, of Hubbard, was fined $10 and costs for driving left of a center line. Nicholas Bubon Jr., 22, of Youngstown forfeited $15 when he failed to appear on a charge of unsafe operation. Traffic violators all were cited by the State Highway Patrol.

To Seek Levy Renewal

CINCINNATI (AP) — The city school board has agreed to ask voters to renew a tax levy of eight mills for five years. The action Monday came after the board approved a $30,423,000 budget for 1960-1961 school operations. The levy is expected to pay about 45 per cent of the budget cost.

Esso Hikes Gasoline Cent In West Virginia

BALTIMORE — The Esso Standard Oil Co. has announced an immediate one-cent a gallon increase in the wholesale price of gasoline in Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

Charles A. Newland, division manager for Esso, said the increase restores Esso Wholesale gas prices in the three states to the level of last summer. Such changes in the wholesale price by leading distributors usually lead to a corresponding boost in consumer prices.

Newland said the increase reflects market conditions for gasoline generally, including higher prices in the major areas of refining and supply.

Man Eating Evergreens Drunk, Police Report

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Someone at a drive-in eating establishment called Albuquerque police and complained that a man was outside "eating the evergreens."

Officers arrested a 41-year-old man standing in front of the place with a mouth full of pine needles.

"Obviously drunk," said the police report.

$10,000 Collection; 'Wood' You Believe It?

SUMMIT, N. J. (AP) — Archie F. Wilson is a University of Illinois' research associate in anatomy — wood anatomy to be exact.

The 57-year-old industrialist conservatively values his extensive collection of 6,000 carved, glued, turned, or laminated wood objects from all over the world at $10,000.

When he moved here from Decatur, Ill., 11 years ago it cost him more to move his wood collection than his furniture.

Wilson, who studies his wood objects through a high-powered microscope, prefers the intellectual to the functional approach to wood expertise. There are two schools of thought concerning wood, he explained, "but I wouldn't call them splinter groups."

San Francisco's Nob Hill had the original name of Nabob Hill because of the large number of wealthy families building mansions there.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

On Convention And Bullfights

John Crosby is on vacation. During his absence his column is being conducted by guest writers.

By ROBERT TROUT

"No, Pepe, the big American political campaign is not like a bullfight," I said to my Spanish-speaking friend. "Not like it at all."

"It depends on the point of view," said Pepe, refusing a blass of sherry and opening a bottle of American soda pop.

"The bullfight is not a fight. It is a ritual. Is not the campaign to become President of the United States a ritual, too?"

"It is a fierce competition for the biggest prize a democratic country has to offer," I replied.

"But a ritual," Pepe insisted, "with all the rules strictly observed.

"THE COY opening statements that the candidates are not candidates. The subsequent announcements that the primaries are all important and the primaries have no meaning.

"The claims, as the convention opens, that all the candidates have enough delegates lined up to win the nomination. Then, after the convention, the set rigmarole for the winner: the hands to shake, the babies to kiss, the television make-up to smear on and scrub off, the platters of rubber chicken and buckshot peas to be consumed at lunches where every detail is performed according to ancient custom.

"I insist, the campaign follows a form as invariable as what the banderillero does with the bull in the second act of the bullfight."

"Does to the bull, don't you mean?" I corrected him.

"Des with the bull," Pepe said. "The bull has his role, just like the candidate. And if he doesn't play it well, nothing! No bullfight worth seeing. No campaign worth bothering with."

"Do you mean the candidate is the bull of the campaign?" I asked.

"No," Pepe said unwrapping a stick of chewing gum. "A skillful candidate is more like an expert matador, and the bull, in some ways, plays the part of the voter.

"The candidate-matador knows the bull-voter is dangerous and must be dominated before he can be properly led through the motions of the ritual dance that they do together.

"The bull-voter hopes he is dangerous, and is usually not sure he is being led through a dance, but is seldom astonished when he gets it in the end."

"I think I am afraid to ask you," I said, "but what part would you say we broadcasters play in this spectacle?"

-:-

"OH, NEWSMEN," said Pepe, casually, as he switched off the flamenco record I had put on the turntable.

"Don't you have any rock-and-roll records? No? A pity. Newsmen," he said, "have been with us since the beginning of history. Almost as long as fighting bulls.

"I have nothing against newsmen, with the exception, of course, of the bullfight critic on that Andalusian paper who once wrote that with the cape on a certain afternoon in June I had all the grace of a tipsy railroad man trying to flag down the Madrid Express.

"The thing I don't understand about news broadcasters is why they should get awards just for doing their jobs."

"Matadors get awards," I reminded him.

"True," he conceded. "For a fine performance he is awarded the ear of his enemy. But what kind of award would that make for a news broadcaster? You fellows already have the ears of your victims from the beginning."

"If we do, it's for good reason," I retorted. "How could any listener resist the lure of a broadcast direct from convention hall?

"The conflict rising to a peak, the cheers and groans, the music and the stamp of feet, the oratory with its grand old phrases that is as much a part of our heritage as 'Happy Birthday!' or 'Kindly remit balance.'

"It makes the spine tingle to hear them, stuck in those speeches like raisins, roared out in a hoarse bellow: 'We point with pride, we view with alarm, the party of the future, the next President of the United States, the man who!"

"I admit it's a great show," Pepe said. "Right through to the end, until the last vote is cast in November. That's really why I said the campaign is like a bullfight, because it's a great show. I think I'll run down to the drive-in for a hot dog."

"The very greatest political show on earth," I cried, carried away, "Ole!"

"Be seeing you around, pal," said Pepe, moving toward the door.

"Ole!" I insisted, "Ole! Ole!"

"Okay," Pepe said, "Okay!"

Blind Factory Worker Seeks Pistol Permit

ATLANTA (AP) — An Atlanta factory worker has applied for a permit to carry a pistol, but officials indicated that although he may be a very good shot they are going to refuse him.

The factory where Paul W. Starnes works is the state factory for the blind.

The 54-year-old blind man says he has been shooting pistols, rifles and shotguns for 20 years and claims he is about as good a shot as anybody. But authorities still were skeptical.

Jobless Rose Nearly Million During June

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment rose by nearly one million in June as record numbers of summer job - seekers poured from school into the labor market, the Labor Department announced Tuesday.

But unprecedented numbers of them found work waiting, with the result that total employment soared by 1,400,000 to 68,579,000, the highest level in history.

This was about one million greater than a year ago. The comparison excludes Alaska and Hawaii, which were not counted in the Bureau of Labor Statistics tabulation last year.

The over-all labor force, civilian jobholders and jobseekers combined, rose by 2,300,000, of which all but about 100,000 were boys and girls 14 to 19 years old.

The unemployment rate, after allowing for seasonal trends, rose from May's 4.9 per cent to 5.5 per cent.

The unemployment rate, after allowing for season trends, rose from May's 4.9 per cent to 5.5 per cent.

Total unemployment was 4,423,000.

The rate compared with the highest postwar June unemployment rate of 7 per cent in 1958.

The factory work week increased by one-tenth of an hour to an even 40 hours on the average, a gain somewhat smaller than normal for the season.

The work-week was lengthened sufficiently, however, to boost the earnings of factory production workers by 23 cents a week to $91.60, while hourly earnings remained unchanged at $2.29.

More than half the jobless were between 14 and 24 years of age.

The huge increase in the number of students entering the labor market foreshadowed "the manpower challenge of the 1960's," reporters were told by Dr. Seymour Wolfbein at a news conference.

Dr. Wolfbein, deputy assistant secretary of labor for manpower, was referring to the fact that the economy must expand to accommodate an enormous increase in the number of youngsters arriving at working age each year.

The influx, causing an increase in unemployment just about twice as great as is usual in June, was also attributable in part to the fact that the department's survey week, June 12 to 18, was later than usual. This meant that virtually all schools had let out by the time the tally was made.

Except for the teen - age phenomenom and the fact that farm employment showed a bigger gain than usual—about one million — the job trends were about normal for the season, Dr. Wolfbein said.

There was a slight decline in factory employment, but it was attributable to the declining rate of steel operations.

Dr. Wolfbein said unemployment normally would be expected to rise in July, although the big gain in June might diminish the expectable July improvement. The rate of unemployment, he said, should decline seasonally from July through October.

Demonstrations Expected Today At Convention

LOS ANGELES (AP)—So-called spontaneous demonstrations are among the scheduled disorder of business today at the 1960 Democratic convention.

Like an ancient tribal rite which must be continued at all costs, convention demonstrations are necessary, or so the politicians say.

Supporters of various candidates have spent months planning these demonstrations down to the last trombone, in the hope of whipping up a froth of enthusiasm for their man.

If past performances count, there will be plenty of demonstrators frothing today.

Included in each major demonstration—for Sens. John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson and Stuart Symington—are cheerleaders, floor whips, runners, walkie-talkies, and prepared-in-advance copies showing when to clap during nominating speeches.

The official convention program limits the organized spontaneity to 10 minutes for each demonstration. But convention officials admit the restriction is about as binding as a campaign promise.

"How we gonna get those people off the floor in 10 minutes?" asked one official. There was no answer. "After all, we can't turn the fire hoses on 'em," he mused.

Collins' Talk At Convention Old-Fashioned

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida has told the Democratic National Convention it must proclaim an America committed to war against colonialism, poverty, hunger, disease, ignorance and prejudice.

Collins, permanent chairman of the convention, gave its second session Tuesday an old-fashioned political speech, full of sonorous, rolling phrases and couched in generalities.

Unlike the keynote address the previous night by Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, Collins' speech did not attack President Eisenhower or Vice President Richard M. Nixon by name. His criticism of the GOP was more or less indirect.

"An America headed for moral bankruptcy under a self-satisfied banner of 'peace and prosperity' never can win a world for democracy and human freedom," Collins said.

"Indeed, the American people hearing this Republican chant of 'peace and prosperity,' are sickened when, abroad, the causes of war are virtually untouched, and when, at home, there is little peace of mind and serious lack of prosperity of spirit."

Collins recited a litany of praise for past Democratic presidents.

"In times of deepest crisis, when history has required that great Presidents be produced, the Democratic party has risen to the challenge," he added.

2 Safe, But Third Sought When Jet Explodes, Crashes

CLEWISTON, Fla. (AP) — An Air Force stratojet bomber plunged to earth after a fiery explosion sighted as far away as Miami, 90 miles to the southeast. Two crew members parachuted safely and a third was being sough today.

The six-engine Boeing B47 blew up Tuesday night while on a training flight over he Everglades, 25 miles southwest of Lake Okeechobee.

Major Maurice E. Saunders and 1st Lt. William J. Vaughn were brought out of the sawgrass wilderness by Coast Guard and law officers who used helicopters and four-wheel-drive vehicles to reach them. Vaughn reportedly suffered an arm fracture.

Homestead Air Force Base, near Miami, withheld the third man's identity pending developments. A spokesman said the three were members of the 19th Bomb Wing, based at Homestead.

Recruiter Cites Army Program Of Training

Sgt. Emuel Bosley, local recruiter, said today the Army has many openings for men 17-34 who would like to learn a vocational trade. He said there are openings in trades such as auto and airplane mechanics, machinist, body repairs, welders, diesel mechanics and drafting.

Those enlisting are given a written guarantee that they will attend the school of their choice, he said. Enlistments are for three years. The applicant can also select the time he would like to leave for training.

Further information can be obtained by contacting Sgt. Bosley at the Post Office or phoning FU 6-4262.

Skating Party Slated

HAMMONDSVILLE — The Pine Grove 4-H Club will sponsor a skating party Monday night at 8 at Frischkorn's Roller Rink on Route 39, near Wellsville.

Strike Ends At Ford Plant

CLEVELAND (AP) — Negotiators reached an agreement early today ending a strike which began a week ago at the Walton Hills plant of Ford Motor Co. The settlement is subject to ratification by Local 420 of the United Auto Workers Union.

The Walton Hills plant, employing about 3,800 workers, produces body stampings. The strike there had shut down assembly of all compact cars in four cities, and in four other assembly units had stopped production of standard sized cars. Approximately 20,000 workers were idled.

The settlement was announced jointly by Plant Manager N. L. Anderson and by Dale Martin, president of the union local.

No details were announced, pending the ratification meeting. Martin said he would call the members together some time Thursday.

Gen. DeGaulle's son, Philippe, is in the French Navy.

Bringing Up A Family

By GARRY C. MEYERS

Hitler Victim Writes On Brotherhood

From Ontario, Canada, comes this letter from a Jewish mother: "I am one of your admirers and never miss your article in our local newspaper. I even went so far as to cut the articles out that I liked and put them away. When my daughter gets married and has children she will also have good use for the wonderful advice you give for us parents. " 'Grow in Homes That Harbor Prejudice' impressed me very much the other day in the paper. I wish, Dr. Myers, you would write more often on this subject. It gave me such a good feeling that there are people without hate towards our religion. In this mixed-up, crazy world we need more men like your caliber.

By Garry Meyer.

"I AM VERY sensitive and all Jews are, especially as I went through all the suffering in concentration camp under Hitler's ruling, the suffering I had to endure because I was a Jew, and our dear parents, sisters and brothers had to die and other six million innocent Jews.

"We are religious Jews and don't hate any other religion, but respect them and expect others to do so.

"I would like to give you a little example:

"Our next-door neighbor's son was killed. My husband, a rabbi, and I went to the church to give our last respects, and stayed through the services.

"Because I did not see our other neighbor at the church, I asked her why she did not come. Her answer was this:

" 'Our priest told us we are not allowed to go to any other churches'.

"WE CAME TO this wonderful country, Canada, where there is freedom, what is to us more than anything else, and we are thankful to God that we are here.

"I never thought that in Canada I would hear the word Jew, or see a swastika painted on our synagogue, what just happened not long ago. That's why I said we need more people like you, Dr. Myers, who can teach the public through the paper for more understanding towards the Jewish faith. God bless you."

How I answered her:

"I appreciate your kind letter more than I can tell you. I have always tried to have a deep appreciation of every religion different from my own.

"I note that you are a little distressed that your Catholic friend said she wasn't allowed to attend another kind of religious ceremony. Like you, I've often wished this were not so. I've attended religious worship of ever so many faiths and sects and have felt spiritually richer from doing so. Yet, as some faiths and sects don't do this, you and I should, I believe, honor and respect their ways as their own.

"I HAVE A devout Catholic neighbor who is a semi-invalid. Several times I have gone with him to his Mass early on Sunday morning and, on return, gone on with Mrs. Myers to our Methodist service.

"I've often wished I could take him along with us but, knowing his way, I don't embarrass him by asking him to go. He often has expressed enthusiasm about our regular attendance at our own church.

"When you and I work as hard as we can at our own religion, we hardly have time to criticize the religion of others."

My bulletins, "The Young Child and Religion" and "Graces and Prayers for Young Children" (suitable for all faiths) may be had by sending a self - addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Scientist Due High Award

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A brilliant scientist today receives one of the nation's highest honors for an antiradar invention so vital that it is still classified as a top secret.

Rear Adm. Walter F. Rodee, commander of 11th Naval Dist. air bases, will give Dr. Otto Halpern a special Defense Department medal in ceremonies at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The fact that Dr. Halpern had to fight for 18 years for his right to the honor is of no significance to him today.

"Wouldn't it be ungracious of me to complain," he said in an interview Tuesday, "when the Defense Department is doing everything it can now to make up for those bitter years?"

A year ago Dr. Halpern was awarded $340,000 by the Defense Department in settlement of his 18-year court battle for recognition as inventor of a material that helped U.S. planes and ships evade enemy radar in World War II and the Korean conflict.

A theoretical physicist, he developed his idea while working at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1941, and it was put to work by the Navy.

When he tried to patent his invention, the government ruled that granting a patent would make his secret processes public.

Solder is an alloy of lead and tin.

'Hear The Winds Blow' Sang For Conventions

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP)—Song leader Robert S. Hall asked members of the Charleston Rotary Club Tuesday to stand and sing No. 58 from the Rotary song book and dedicate it to the two political conventions.

No. 58's title: "Hear the Winds Blow."

Work Accident Fatal

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Joseph Smith, 33, of Clinton, was killed Tuesday when struck by a counterweight on an elevator used for hauling ashes at the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. power plant.

Individual Honors Are Shared As Democrats Open Conclave

By SAUL PETT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It is clear who won individual honors at the opening session of the Democratic National Convention.

To Paul Ziffren, chairman of the California Convention Committee, went the distinction of being the first orator to refer to "the last syllable of recorded time."

This occurred at 6:18 p.m. He also became the first speaker to mention "our rendezvous with destiny," a phrase which hasn't failed the Democrats in 27 years.

Paul M. Butler, retiring national chairman, was first to the wire with "the whole world is watching us" and "peace is our business."

Butler also was the only speaker of the evening to excite applause with a promise of nonappearances in the future. He got the hand by saying, "This is the last time I shall address you as national chairman."

In his 5¼-year tenure, Butler has proved one of the most controversial party chairmen of the century, a fact referred to with something less than obliqueness. He said, "If the national committee has taken a stand on issues, it has not taken a stand on men." He denied again Harry Truman's charge by insisting the Convention has had "no rigging whatsoever."

Butler won other honors. He was the first speaker to mention Franklin D. Roosevelt, and he easily ran off with the Oscar for the best alliteration by blasting the enemy for "eight years of golfing and goofing."

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California was the first to declare, "We are here to nominate the next president of the United States"—a statement of hope likely to be repeated 86 times before the week is out.

The Oscar for the most literal gestures of the evening went without contest to Frank Church, 35, youngest member of the United States Senate and convention keynoter. In his blue suit and white shirt and carefully timed pauses and studied modulations and memorized speech, he reminded many of a promising prep school orator.

President Andrew Jackson, when a lawyer, liked his cockfights as well as his legal battles.
